Atlantic County Tees Up: Celebrate National Golf Month on Shore Greens

August is National Golf Month - a time when communities across the country celebrate the game's traditions, fresh courses, and growing local culture. Here in Atlantic County, golf is more than a summer pastime - it's woven into the region's identity. From century-old greens to seaside layouts and seaside-inspired legends, each fairway tells a story - and offers a fresh way to explore the Shore.

The story begins in Northfield, just inland from Atlantic City, at the historic Atlantic City Country Club, founded in 1897. The phrase "birdie" - one under par - was born here in 1903 after a player hit what locals called a "bird of a shot." The course also produced history on the men's side: in 1911 John J. McDermott, the club's pro and a local youth, became the first American-born champion of the U.S. Open - and defended his title in 1912. Legends like Babe Didrikson Zaharias and Sam Snead later claimed U.S. Women's Open and PGA Senior Tour titles on these grounds. Leo and Sonny Fraser - a father-son duo with deep ties to both the club and PGA leadership - cemented Atlantic County's role in shaping modern competitive golf.

Atlantic City Country Club, Northfield - Founded in 1897, ACCC is the birthplace of the golf term "birdie" and one of the oldest courses in the United States. Overlooking the bay with a clear view of the Atlantic City skyline, it has hosted legends from Babe Zaharias to Sam Snead.

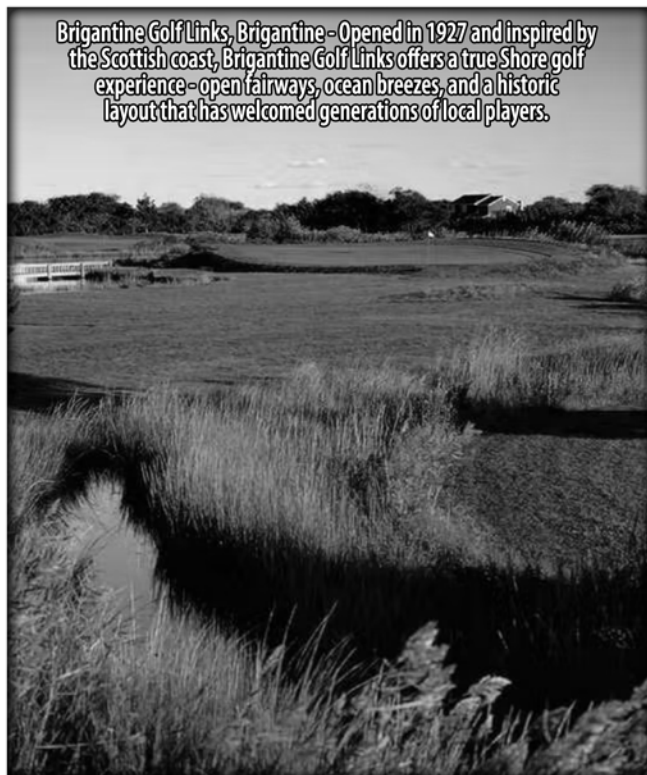

McDermott's impact on golf went beyond his victories. At just 19 years old, he stunned the sport's establishment, which had been dominated by British-born pros. He remains one of the youngest U.S. Open champions in history. Tragically, McDermott's career was cut short due to mental health struggles, but his early success paved the way for American golfers on the global stage. Another key figure tied to the area is Leo Fraser, who managed the Atlantic City Country Club for decades and served as president of the PGA of America in the 1960s. Fraser was a champion of bringing more accessibility to the sport and helped guide it through the early years of televised coverage and sponsorship deals that shaped the modern tour.

Just a few miles north in Galloway Township, the Seaview Bay Course at Seaview Resort was originally sketched in 1914 by Hugh Wilson and finished by Donald Ross - a coastal layout that has played host to major championships, including a dramatic 1942 PGA Championship where Sam Snead holed a dramatic chip to win his first major. The resort housed the LPGA's ShopRite LPGA Classic for years, bringing stars like Annika Sörenstam, Betsy King, and Nancy Lopez to Shore tees.

Seaview Bay Course, Galloway Township - Designed in part by Donald Ross, Seaview's Bay Course has hosted major championships since the 1940s. Sam Snead won his first PGA title here in 1942, and the course remains a coastal classic with deep ties to LPGA history.

Brigantine Golf Links, Brigantine - Opened in 1927 and inspired by the Scottish coast, Brigantine Golf Links offers a true Shore golf experience - open fairways, ocean breezes, and a historic layout that has welcomed generations of local players.

Donald Ross's involvement is especially notable - his hand in shaping Seaview's Bay Course connects Atlantic County to the broader architectural tradition of American golf. Ross, best known for Pinehurst No. 2 and dozens of elite courses nationwide, left his signature here in the form of naturalistic bunkers, run-off areas, and green complexes designed to harness the wind coming off Reed's Bay. Seaview's fairways may be walkable and scenic, but they were built to challenge. And like Ross himself, the course rewards precision and creativity over brute strength - making it a favorite for both professionals and low-handicap locals.

For modern players, Atlantic County offers a range of landscapes and experiences. Ballamor Golf Club, Scotland Run, and Brigantine Golf Links each blend links-style bunkers, coastal marsh views, and resident reviews from local golfers who call these some of the Shore's top-rated public layouts. Brigantine's historic layout, designed in 1927 to echo Scottish coast courses, has welcomed generations of players seeking quiet views and wind-swept challenge.

During National Golf Month, players of all levels can enjoy tee times without long waitlists or hefty green fees. Atlantic County offers a welcoming mix of resort courses, semi-private layouts, and public-access fairways. PGA-certified instructors and local pros, often based at these clubs, offer lessons and clinics geared toward beginners, juniors, and weekend warriors.

Blend your round with some history: head to ACCC and find the memorial rock marking where "birdie" was coined, or walk the same dunes where early pros tested new tees, trolleying in from the Boardwalk just over a century ago. At Seaview, imagine Snead sinking that chip shot with marshland all around before he would dominate professional golf for decades.

Want to discover your own Shore green? Tee off where the wind draws sea fescue across rolling links, shadow the old trolley routes that once brought PGA stars in ties and spats, and pause at quiet coastal courses where the day ends with the scent of saltgrass on the breeze.

National Golf Month is the perfect moment to take a fresh swing at Atlantic County's storied past and present - all without ever leaving the Shore.

HOROSCOPE

JULY 31 - AUGUST 6, 2025

ARIES (Mar. 21 - April 20)

Tensions may rise early in the week as your drive clashes with someone else's hesitation. Take it as a cue to listen, not bulldoze. By the weekend, a small compromise opens a much bigger door. Assertiveness works best when balanced with awareness.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 - May 21)

You're drawn to comfort zones, but something is nudging you just beyond the edge. This week, lean into unfamiliar territory - especially if it challenges your assumptions. Your sense of stability won't crumble; it might actually expand.

GEMINI (May 22 - June 21)

You're in a mood to mix things up - socially, stylistically, or even spiritually. Just make sure the change is meaningful, not just for show. A spontaneous invite or offhand comment could lead to something surprisingly lasting.

CANCER (June 22 - July 22)

A financial or practical decision might stir up more emotion than expected. Give yourself space to respond, not just react. You're redefining what security means to you, and that starts with being honest about what you truly value.

LEO (July 23 - Aug 22)

The spotlight's still on you - but this week, it feels more reflective than radiant. You're being asked to look inward, not outward, for validation. A quiet victory midweek proves you don't need applause to shine. Let purpose lead the party.

VIRGO (Aug. 23 - Sept. 23)

Something hidden comes to light this week - a realization, a miscommunication, or a secret someone's been holding close. Don't rush to fix it. Sitting with uncertainty can be more powerful than premature resolution. The truth is still assembling.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 - Oct. 23)

An unexpected alliance could shift your outlook, especially regarding a project or shared goal. Stay open to feedback - it's not criticism, it's refinement. You're gathering the right people at the right time. Collaboration is your secret weapon.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 - Nov. 22)

This week tests your leadership, not through authority but through adaptability. Someone's looking to you for guidance, even if they don't say it outright. Show how calm and control can coexist. Your presence speaks louder than your plans.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 - Dec. 21)

A new idea lights you up - but slow your roll before broadcasting it to the world. This is a week for planting seeds, not demanding fruit. A quiet conversation or research dive helps shape the bigger vision. Let curiosity lead the way.

CAPRICORN (Dec 22 - Jan. 20)

You're more introspective than usual, especially when it comes to loyalty and long-term bonds. A situation may call for release or recommitment - either way, clarity comes when you stop overthinking and tune into your gut. Honor what feels aligned.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 - Feb. 19)

You're being mirrored in your relationships this week - what annoys you might be something you're also doing. Don't take it as criticism; take it as a growth point. A midweek moment could reset the tone and strengthen mutual respect.

PISCES (Feb. 20 - Mar. 20)

This is a prime week to tend to the little things - sleep, nutrition, clutter, time management. It's not glamorous, but it's grounding. What you realign now sets you up for a smoother season ahead. Treat your body like it's your closest companion.

Last week brought its share of drama: the Phillies split a three-game series in Chicago and now return home to begin a week-long stand at Citizens Bank Park. The defining moment came Tuesday night as Jesús Luzardo delivered a much-needed bounce-back performance. In seven smooth innings, he allowed just two hits, walked one, and struck out four, anchoring a 6-3 win over the division-rival White Sox and evening the series at one game apiece.

On the offensive side, the Phils showed power and patience. Kyle Schwarber launched his 37th homer of the season, while Brandon Marsh added a two-run shot of his own. All told, the Phillies built early momentum with small-ball in the second inning, then extended it with a three-run third. Despite a late rally from Chicago, Philadelphia held firm - thanks to Luzardo and timely hitting from Trea Turner and Marsh.

That snapshot contrasts with the series opener, where the Phillies dropped a 6-2 decision. Rookie standouts Colson Montgomery and Luis Robert Jr. sparked a Chicago comeback, combining for clutch hits - including a go-ahead homer off Christopher Sánchez, who had been solid in previous outings.

With those results in, the Phillies sit at 61-46, trailing the Mets by just half a game in the National League East. Looking ahead, they welcome a four-game homestand including a weekend series against Detroit and mid-week games versus Baltimore.

Looking Ahead: Keys to Next Week

Philadelphia enters the first week of August with opportunity and optimism. The home slate begins Friday against Detroit, with a Friday evening opener followed by afternoon games on Saturday and Sunday. Expect strong crowds during Toyota Phillies Alumni Weekend, when legends including Jimmy Rollins, Greg Luzinski, and Darren Daulton return to the ballpark for appearances and in-game celebrations.

Pitching depth is the question mark. Manager Rob Thomson continues to express confidence in the existing bullpen corps, even as the July 31 trade deadline looms. With David Robertson back and starting pitchers like Cristopher Sánchez and Michael Lorenzen optioned for relief, the Phils think they can toe the stretch without a major deadline deal - but staying sharp out of the pen will be crucial.

Offensively, Bryce Harper and Kyle Schwarber carry the load. Schwarber continues to lead the team in home runs, RBIs, and OPS, while Harper hasn't slowed at the plate. If Detroit pitchers can't contain that duo, Philadelphia is well-positioned to seize control of the division.

Fans heading to Citizens Bank Park this weekend won't just catch a pivotal series - they'll also step into the heart of Toyota Phillies Alumni Weekend, running August 1 through 3. Friday night kicks things off with a Wall of Fame induction honoring franchise great Jimmy Rollins and former GM Ed Wade. On Saturday, the club pays tribute to late slugger Dick Allen, recently inducted into the Hall of Fame. Sunday's matinee celebrates the 75th anniversary of the 1950 NL Pennant with a special on-field tribute and a new documentary about Rollins. Throughout the weekend, alumni like Ryan Howard, Chase Utley, Cole Hamels, and Larry Bowa will make appearances, participate in in-game ceremonies, and swap bases mid-inning. Limited-edition Rollins and Allen merchandise will be available at team stores, and a signed memorabilia auction will run through August 11. With legends on the field and a packed homestand ahead, this weekend offers more than baseball - it's a full-circle celebration of Philadelphia Phillies history and pride.

Final Word

The Phillies' win in Chicago felt like a reset - and a reminder that even in a down-to-the-wire division race, this team can deliver when it counts. With healthy bats, improving pitching, and legends returning to the park for Alumni Weekend, August could be the turning point in a push toward October. Next week at home, the stage is set - and Phillies fans can feel the shift.

RIP CURRENTS

KNOW YOUR OPTIONS

IF CAUGHT IN A RIP CURRENT

- Relax, rip currents don't pull you under.
- Don't swim against the current.
- Swim out of the current, then to shore.
- If you can't escape, float or tread water.
- If you need help, yell or wave for assistance.

Rip currents are powerful currents of water moving away from shore. They can sweep even the strongest swimmer away from shore. If at all possible, swim near a lifeguard.

Stay Safe in the Surf: A Guide to Water Safety at the Jersey Shore

The Jersey Shore is synonymous with summer fun—sunny beach days, refreshing ocean dips, and thrilling surf. But as inviting as the Atlantic Ocean, bays, and inlets may seem, these waters demand respect. Each year, thousands of visitors flock to Atlantic and Cape May Counties to enjoy the shore, and knowing how to stay safe can mean the difference between a great day and a dangerous one.

Respect the Ocean's Power

The ocean at the Jersey Shore can change quickly, with shifting tides, sudden drop-offs, and powerful currents. Rip currents, in particular, pose a significant hazard. Often invisible from shore, these narrow channels of fast-moving water can pull swimmers out beyond the breaking waves. If caught in one, stay calm—don't try to swim directly back to shore. Instead, swim parallel to the beach until you're free of the current, then angle back toward land.

When possible, swim only at guarded beaches. Lifeguards are trained to spot hazards, assist swimmers in distress, and respond quickly in emergencies. Many Jersey Shore towns, including Ocean City, Wildwood, Cape May, Atlantic City, and Brigantine, staff their beaches with lifeguards daily during peak season, typically from Memorial Day through Labor Day.

Know the Conditions

Before heading out, check the day's surf and weather reports. Local news, beach patrol websites, and flag systems provide updates on tide times, rip current risks, jellyfish sightings, and storm advisories. Be especially cautious after storms, when surf conditions can remain rough even if skies are clear.

Additionally, always be aware of boat traffic in bays and inlets, where swimmers, kayakers, and paddleboarders share the water with motorized vessels. Wearing a U.S. Coast Guard-approved life jacket is essential for boating and recommended for inexperienced swimmers in deeper waters.

Supervise Children Closely

Even on calm days, waves can knock over small children or carry them farther out than expected. Stay within arm's reach of young swimmers, and consider outfitting them with brightly colored swimwear or rash guards for visibility. Teach children to recognize lifeguards and seek help if they feel unsafe.

Smart Shore Habits

- Stay sober while swimming or boating. Alcohol impairs judgment, balance, and reaction times.
- Obey posted signs and lifeguard instructions. Many towns prohibit swimming after hours, when no lifeguards are present.
- Don't overestimate your abilities. The ocean is not a pool. If you're not a strong swimmer, stay in shallower water where you can touch bottom.

Enjoy the Water, Respect the Risks

The Jersey Shore's waters offer unforgettable fun but a safe beach day starts with smart choices. By understanding the ocean's power, heeding local guidance, and watching out for one another, visitors can make the most of their time at the shore - keeping memories joyful and worry-free.

HEALTHFUL LIVING

A Weekly Guide to Health Awareness

YOGA POSE OF THE WEEK - Downward Facing Dog (Adho Mukha Svanasana)

Just because you've heard of Downward Facing Dog doesn't mean it's easy.

Beginners often lean too far forward in this posture, making it more like a plank. Instead, keep your weight mostly in your legs and reach your hips high with your heels stretching toward the floor (they do not need to touch the floor).

Soften your knees to facilitate the move if you have tight hamstrings. Keep feet parallel.

VITAMIN HIGHLIGHT - Vitamin D

Like calcium, it keeps your bones strong and helps your nerves carry messages. It also plays a role in fighting germs. Careful time in the sun -- 10 to 15 minutes on a clear day, is the best source. Or you could eat fish such as salmon, tuna, and mackerel.

There's a little in egg yolks, too. You can also get milk and sometimes orange juice with added vitamin D.

Surf, Art, and Local Pride Collide at Ocean City's Art of Surfing Festival

Now in its 24th year, Ocean City's Art of Surfing Festival returns to the Music Pier this week with three days of surf-inspired creativity, craftsmanship, and community. What began as a humble gallery showcase in the early 2000s has evolved into a full-fledged celebration of the Jersey Shore's unique surf culture. The festival opens Thursday, July 31, from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m., and continues Friday and Saturday, August 1 and 2, from noon to 8 p.m. Admission is free, and the vibes - like the tide - are high.

The origins of the festival can be traced back to Asbury Avenue's Sagamore Gallery, where artists Phil DeAngelo and Steve Miller first curated an exhibit focused solely on surf-themed art. As the event grew in popularity, it found a permanent home at the Ocean City Music Pier, where it continues to thrive under the creative leadership of Aaron "Bogy" Bogushesky. In recent years, Bogy has been joined by co-organizers Caitlin Peck, Jason Carlisi, and Elizabeth Kirk - who also designed this year's poster. Together, they've expanded the festival to include live surfboard shaping demonstrations, book signings, surf films, and nightly performances by local bands.

More than two dozen artists will display original works this year, ranging from ocean photography and wood carvings to hand-painted surfboards and wearable pieces. Among the newcomers are Jules Gaupp, known for her hand-painted beach accessories, and Kristina Young, co-founder of Peace of Wood. On-site shaping demos by Brian Wynn, Tony Palaia, and Trevor Kennedy offer a rare chance to see the craft of board-building up close, while musicians like Head High, L+J Band, Polaroid Fade, and The Customers provide the soundtrack to the longboard lifestyle.

The cultural significance of the festival is amplified by Ocean City's deep-rooted surfing legacy. Surfers were paddling out here as early as the 1920s, including the Cropper brothers and Hawaiian-born Watts Smith, who was stationed in the area during his time in the military and brought with him the traditions of Hawaiian wave-riding. Boards were crafted from solid mahogany or pine, and lugging one to the water was a commitment only the most passionate pioneers undertook. The scene grew through the decades, eventually leading to the establishment of the Ocean City Surfing Association in the 1960s by John Carey and Don Pileggi - one of the first competitive surfing groups on the East Coast. By the 1970s, thanks to advocates like Richard Parolski and city liaison Harold "Chip" Gordy, Ocean City officially designated surf beaches and began working with the surfing community rather than against it.

That legacy is still riding strong today, not just through the local lineup, but in the schools and surf culture that define modern Ocean City. The high school surf team remains one of the most dominant in the state, with multiple NSSA state championships under their belt and a reputation for producing tough, talented riders who thrive in Mid-Atlantic conditions. The next generation starts even younger, thanks to the Ocean City Intermediate School Surf Club. Each fall, students from the club paddle out after school and surf until the water gets too cold, often well into November. It's a hands-on education in both the sport and the lifestyle, passed down from board to board.

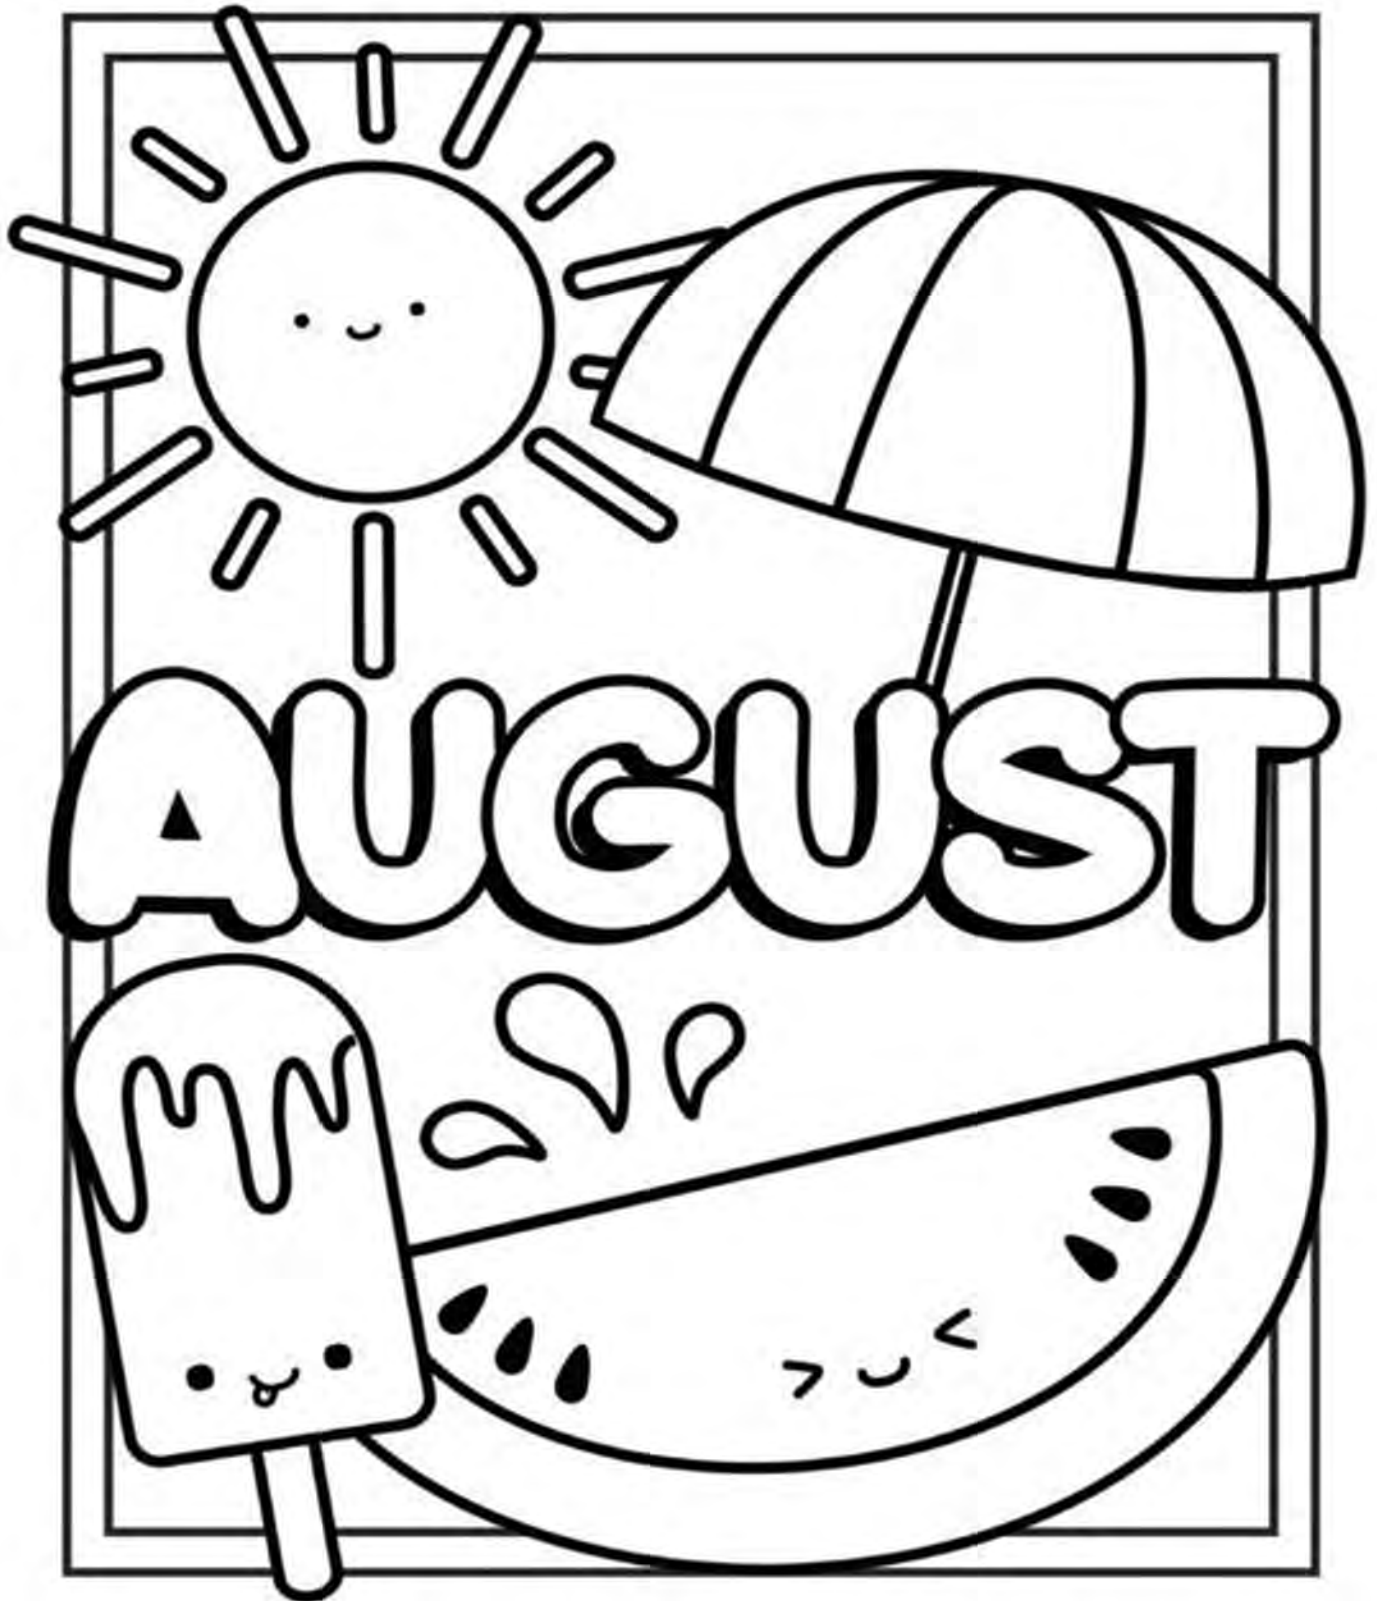

One of the most visible products of that homegrown pride is Rob Kelly, a longtime Ocean City resident and widely respected voice in East Coast surfing. Though largely retired from formal competition, Kelly continues to make an impact through big-wave performances in winter swells, surf documentaries, and tireless promotion of NJ breaks. He's known for his cold-water barrel riding, but also for helping to shift the spotlight onto the Mid-Atlantic scene - showing the world that elite surfing doesn't stop at the California coast.

Earlier this year, Kelly parted ways with longtime sponsor Billabong and joined Jetty, the Manahawkin-based surf and outdoor brand known for its commitment to East Coast culture. "Jetty's always been about East Coast pride and grassroots support," Kelly said in a recent interview. "This partnership lets me represent where I'm from - and that means everything." While not officially on the festival lineup, Kelly's presence is a familiar one along the Boardwalk and in the local lineup, where his influence continues to shape the surf scene that raised him.

The Music Pier is located at 8th Street and the Boardwalk, and there's ample parking available in the nearby municipal lots at 9th and 10th Streets, as well as metered parking throughout the area. Because the festival coincides with peak summer beach days and other boardwalk events, arriving early - especially in the afternoon - is highly recommended.

As the salty air mingles with the scent of board wax and acrylic paint, the Art of Surfing Festival continues to do what it's always done best - celebrate the intersection of local culture, coastal creativity, and a community that rides the waves in more ways than one.

FROM THE HEART OF ATLANTIC COUNTY MAGAZINE

On Tuesday, August 5, towns across Atlantic County will join a nationwide tradition of community building as National Night Out returns for another year of free, family-friendly fun with a public purpose. Born in the 1980s as a grass-roots movement to foster trust between residents and law enforcement, National Night Out has become a summer staple from coast to coast. And in Atlantic County, it's more than just an evening of games and giveaways - it's a chance to meet your local first responders, see behind the scenes of public safety operations, and connect with neighbors over hot dogs and handshakes rather than headlines.

Atlantic City kicks off the night at Oscar McClinton Park (201 N. New Hampshire Avenue) from 5 to 8 PM. Hosted by the Atlantic City Police and Fire Departments along with county agencies, the event will feature K-9 demonstrations, SWAT displays, music, raffles, and plenty of food. Families can explore vehicles, interact with officers, and enjoy a waterfront evening near the Boardwalk. Free parking is available in nearby lots and on-street spots.

Galloway Township will host its biggest event yet at the Municipal Complex on E. Jimmie Leeds Road, also from 5:30 to 8:30 PM. Police, fire, and EMS teams will offer up-close looks at equipment and safety tactics, including a visit from the Atlantic County SWAT and aviation units. There will be games for kids, snacks for all ages, and a chance to meet the people behind the badges. Parking is free on-site with overflow space behind the municipal building.

Linwood will gather at Memorial Field, also known as All Wars Park, at 1299 Shore Road, from 5:30 to 8:30 PM. The Linwood Police Department will host games and giveaways for children, along with educational safety booths and a showcase of gear and emergency vehicles. Parking is available at the field lot and along adjacent streets.

Margate will once again host its celebration at the Margate Sports Complex (1695 Banks Avenue) from 6 to 9 PM. Activities include carnival-style games, safety demonstrations, hot dogs, and prizes—plus appearances by local first responders. The event is family-focused and well attended, with free parking available near the complex.

Ventnor's event runs from 6 to 9 PM at Ski Beach, located at the end of Dorset Avenue. Attendees can enjoy music, giveaways, snacks, and safety displays, along with a waterfront view. The Ventnor City Police Department, Fire Department, and Beach Patrol all participate. Street parking is available nearby, and guests are encouraged to bring chairs or blankets for comfort.

Hamilton Township (Mays Landing) is bringing back its popular National Night Out celebration from 6 to 10 PM at Lake Lenape Park, 753 Park Road. Hosted by the Hamilton Township Police Department, this event includes bounce houses, food trucks, music, and fireworks at dusk. Parking is available on-site with overflow lots marked.

Egg Harbor Township will once again light up the Veterans Memorial and Community Center at 2153 Ocean Heights Avenue from 5:30 to 9 PM, with support from the local Police Department and partner agencies. Guests can expect food, music, police and fire demos, and plenty of kid-focused entertainment. Free parking is available at the Center.

Brigantine's festivities unfold at the 26th Street Recreation Complex (between W. Brigantine Avenue and 25th Street South) from 6 to 9 PM. This beachside bash includes food vendors, hayrides, a bounce house, fire truck tours, and an outdoor movie at sundown. Residents are encouraged to bring beach chairs and stay late. Parking is free and plentiful near the fields.

From shore towns to inland neighborhoods, National Night Out gives Atlantic County residents a chance to celebrate their communities while learning about the people and departments that protect them. Whether you're there for the fire truck tours, the bounce houses, or simply to thank a local officer, there's no wrong reason to show up. Because when safety starts with relationships, and relationships start with a smile—there's no better place to begin than National Night Out.

COCONUTS

Coconuts offer several health benefits due to their rich nutrient profile. They are a good source of healthy fats, fiber, and minerals like manganese, copper, and selenium. These components can contribute to improved digestion increased energy levels, and potential benefits for heart health and blood sugar control.

Coconuts offer antimicrobial properties! Coconuts contain lauric acid which has been shown to possess antibacterial and antiviral properties. Coconuts may support weight management! The fiber and MCTs in coconuts can contribute to feelings of fullness and satiety, potentially aiding in weight management efforts. Coconuts are a good source of antioxidants! Coconuts contain antioxidants like phenolic compounds, which help protect the body against oxidative damage.

While coconuts offer numerous health benefits, they are also high in calories and saturated fat, so it's important to consume them in moderation. Consider your individual health needs and dietary requirements when incorporating coconut into your diet. For example, those with specific heart health concerns or those on a low-fat diet should be mindful of their coconut consumption.

Greater Atlantic City Concierge Association's Spotlight: Noyes Art Garage

Submitted by: Judy Brenna, GACCA Communications Director
Catering & Events Director, Blue Dog Hospitality Group

Tell us a little about your history. Fred and Ethel Noyes are best known as the developers of the Historic Smithville Inn and the Towne of Historic Smithville. The Noyes established the Mr. and Mrs. Fred Winslow Noyes Foundation on June 8, 1973, with the intention of forming a museum that would reflect their interests in fine art and folk art. Upon the sale of the Towne of Historic Smithville to the American Broadcasting Company in the summer of 1974, the Noyes began planning for the museum. Those plans were delayed by Mrs. Noyes' untimely death in January 1979. Mr. Noyes and the remaining trustees of the foundation saw to the completion of the museum building and its inaugural exhibitions in June 1983. Mr. Noyes continued to oversee the operation of the museum until his passing in 1987. Art was the heartbeat of Fred Noyes, and he painted until he could no longer hold a paintbrush. His paintings reveal the joy he found in life and the delight he took in the natural landscapes of southern New Jersey. No matter what other demands there were in his life, he found the time to paint. His legacy is a body of work and an art museum that continue to inspire us to this day.

Do you offer tours at the Art Garage? Guided, group tours of the Noyes Museum's galleries in Hammonton and Atlantic City as well as hands-on workshops can be arranged for groups of ten or more. The Noyes' knowledgeable museum guides will lead your group on an informative stroll through the galleries, providing background on the exhibiting artists and analyses of the artistic techniques and subject matter they employ. Customized, regional tour packages are also available. Arrangements for a sit-down lunch time can be coordinated. It is advised to make your group tour reservations at least one month in advance of your visit.

Is there any other important information we should know? While we offer special events for every month of the year, and currently running art camp through the summer, we are excited to be hosting the Garden State Film Festival Best of Fest on August 14, with a Sips and Treats reception at 6:30 pm and a viewing starting at 7 pm, featuring an array of award-winning short films from around the globe. Join us for an evening of the best the cinematic arts have to offer from New Jersey's Premier Independent Film Festival® past festivals. Get your tickets at our website!

America celebrates American Adventures Month throughout August. As we spend more and more time indoors, we tend to forget how good being outside feels. Being cooped up in our homes and offices means we spend less time in nature or participating in outdoor activities. American Adventures Month encourages Americans to do something daring and adventurous, which they otherwise would not. Along with being adventurous, the month also encourages traveling to understand different ways of living and to appreciate the deep bond that humans share with nature. The ultimate aim of American Adventures Month is to promote a holistic lifestyle.

History of American Adventures Month

American Adventures Month was founded by its spokesperson, an American adventurer by the name of Peter Kulkula. He founded the month as a way of promoting vacationing in the Americas. Kulkula hoped that the month would encourage explorers to visit the vast landscapes of not just the United States, but also North, South, and Central America. We often take for granted the great number of activities and adventures that can be pursued in the wonderful country, and American Adventures Month hopes to rectify that.

Since we remain busy with work and family for most of the year, everyone needs a vacation once in a while to relieve themselves from the daily stress of life. Adventure and travel encourage creativity, endurance, fun, and play within yourself and your travel companion. August is the perfect month to plan your next vacation adventure. Take some time off, enjoy the outdoors, and see for yourself what America has to offer.

Travel isn't only just a way of having fun — it broadens your perspectives, challenges you to try something new, and also makes you appreciate your own culture and people. You don't always have to spend a lot of money or travel to a new country to explore new territory. If you cannot get away to see a different part of America, you can still do something fun and adventurous in your own town. August marks the last chance to get away before the end of the summer, thus making it the perfect time to seek excitement, a quiet space, or to simply learn something new.

How To Celebrate American Adventures Month

- Explore the waters - If you live near an ocean, river, or lake, you could try some sort of water sport during American Adventures Month. You could go kayaking, surfing, boating, canoeing, or even fishing.
- Visit a national park - America is home to over 400 national parks and forests. Chances are that you have one nearby, too. So why not celebrate American Adventures Month by going hiking, camping, and exploring a national park near you.
- Go on a road trip - If adventures aren't really your thing, you could go on a road trip with your friends and family. Drive around, spend quality time with your loved ones, and explore areas you haven't seen before.

Atlantic County, Your Backyard Adventureland

August is American Adventures Month - a national reminder that you don't need to climb peaks or cross state lines to find wonder. In Atlantic County, adventure is just minutes from home: salt marsh trails, guided beach walks, horseback rides through pine forests, and water sports for every curiosity.

Take a walk through Estell Manor Park, where over 27 miles of dirt and boardwalk trails wind through cedar swamps, hardwood forests, and the haunting remains of a World War I munitions plant. At the edge of the park, the Warren E. Fox Nature Center offers maps, wildlife exhibits, and occasional educational programs that make every hike feel like a discovery. Canoe and kayak launches connect paddlers to Stephens Creek and the South River, where quiet bends invite lingering and wildlife sightings are common.

For deeper woodland exploration, Riverbend Park in Mays Landing spans more than 700 acres along the Great Egg Harbor River. Its sandy trails are ideal for both mountain bikers and bird watchers, with quiet, shaded corners perfect for spotting migrating songbirds, salamanders, or even a bald eagle if you're lucky.

Prefer a smoother route? The Somers Point Bike Path stretches from Pleasantville to Somers Point, passing through Linwood and Northfield along a paved, tree-lined corridor. You'll cruise past parks, playgrounds, fishing spots, and the occasional café patio just steps from the trail. The Atlantic County Bikeway offers a longer ride - 7.5 miles from the Shore Mall area out to Hamilton Township - following a former rail line that feels removed from traffic but not from civilization.

For those itching to get off-road entirely, Wharton State Forest offers thousands of acres of Pine Barrens to explore, including multi-use trails ideal for hiking, cycling, and horseback riding. The historic village of Batsto makes a worthy stop for history buffs, while paddlers can launch canoes or kayaks onto the Mullica River for a shaded trip through the forest's heart. Local stables in the Pine Barrens host trail rides for beginners and experienced riders alike, and guides are often available for small-group or seasonal themed excursions.

Water lovers have options beyond the bay. Designated surf beaches in Atlantic City - like Delaware Avenue and Downtown Beach - offer decent breaks and reliable rental options for visitors without their own gear. Surf schools operate throughout the summer, providing lessons for beginners and returning riders alike. On calmer days, paddleboards, kayaks, and windsurfing boards dot the shoreline at Jackson Avenue Beach. Further inland, lakes in Estell Manor and Lake Lenape Park welcome non-motorized boaters with easy launches and cool, shaded stretches that feel miles away from the boardwalk.

For a bit more thrill, parasailing boats launch from Gardner's Basin in Atlantic City, sending adventurous types hundreds of feet above the back bay for sweeping views of the shoreline, inlet, and skyline. Outings typically last under two hours, require no experience, and offer an unbeatable photo op for anyone bold enough to go up.

Back bay rentals are also available throughout Margate and Ventnor, where several launch spots let you slip into the calm morning waters for a solo paddle, guided eco tour, or family float. Look for outfitters near Amherst Avenue and Dorset Avenue, where equipment rentals are available by the hour and most docks are steps from nearby coffee shops or food spots.

Guided beach walks, sunset paddles, and nature hikes are also offered through various local programs and park offices throughout the year. Many are free or donation-based, and include themes like "Moonlight in the Marsh," "Pine Barrens Plant Life," or "Wildlife Along the Water." Schedules change with the season, but county websites and library boards often post upcoming offerings a few weeks out.

If your idea of adventure includes land, water, and sky, Atlantic County has you covered. Whether you're paddling past cedar roots, trotting horseback through shaded pines, or sailing high above the surf with your feet dangling and heart racing, this is your month to embrace it all. You don't need a passport, a long weekend, or a perfect plan. Just a little time and a willingness to say yes - to trails, tidepools, or wherever the breeze leads. American Adventures Month starts right here - and your backyard is ready.

Atlantic County 4-H Fair Returns for Its 76th Year: Hands-On Tradition Meets Modern "Maker" Movement in Mays Landing

The 76th Atlantic County 4-H Fair arrives Friday, August 8, and continues Saturday, August 9, at the David C. Wood 4-H Center & Fairgrounds, located at 3210 Route 50 in Mays Landing. The two-day event celebrates the achievements of Atlantic County youth through hands-on learning, public exhibitions, and old-fashioned family fun - with free admission and $5 parking on site.

Held annually since 1949, the Atlantic County 4-H Fair remains one of the longest-running community events in the region. It brings together more than 250 local 4-H members from clubs across the county, who spend the year exploring topics like agriculture, animal science, engineering, arts, and civic engagement. The fair is their moment to share what they've learned through interactive booths, judged competitions, and public demonstrations.

Inside the main building, visitors will find a showcase of club projects - ranging from food preservation and photography to model trains, Lego engineering, and robotics. Outdoors, the barns and pavilions come alive with animal shows, equine displays, and crowd favorites like the goat obstacle course and rabbit agility course. Saturday features the Baby Parade, Pet Parade, and Pie Eating Contest, which always draw a crowd.

The fairgrounds are also home to amusement rides, hands-on activity tents, and live music throughout both days. Multiple food vendors and snack stands will offer family-friendly fare, with shaded seating areas available near the entertainment tent. Kids can earn a prize by completing the annual 4-H Passport scavenger hunt, which encourages them to explore every corner of the fairgrounds.

The site itself - named for the late David C. Wood, a local agricultural leader and advocate for 4-H - is located just north of downtown Mays Landing, with parking accessible from Route 50. Overflow parking is typically available along Park Road and adjoining fields, with signage and fair volunteers guiding vehicles. The location is ADA accessible, and restrooms, shaded areas, and first aid services are available on site.

Visitors curious about 4-H's history will find a timeline of Atlantic County's program near the front entrance. Exhibits trace its evolution from rural farm clubs in the early 1900s to today's diverse programs in STEM, sustainability, and leadership. The fair also honors longtime volunteers and club leaders - many of whom were once members themselves.

For more information, contact the Atlantic County 4-H Office at 609-625-0056 before the fair or 609-965-1677 during the event.

Jim & Dale

Jim Hughes, a retired high school history teacher living in Farmingdale, New York, has a simple philosophy of life: "Life well." He does that with the help of his fourth Seeing Eye dog, a black Labrador retriever named Dale. The photo shows Jim standing next to Dale, who is sitting on an elevated platform.

"He's the sweetest dog I ever had," Jim said. "I jokingly tell people that he has two occupations, guiding me and providing emotional support."

While Jim was still teaching, Dale's services were needed after two adults were killed and another seriously injured in a school bus accident.

"I just sat on the floor with him and asked the students if anyone needed puppy love. You would be amazed how Dale's sweetness and loving nature help them process some of their grief. Boys and girls in the band, football players, and the quietest kids came over and said they would like some puppy love," Jim said. "His presence definitely helped break the silence and got students thinking about something outside of their pain and suffering. From that point forward I received several requests from students for puppy love when they were stressed or simply having a bad day."

PPAWS - People & Puppies at Work for Sight "MEET THE PACK!"

TAKING ON THE BIG APPLE

One of the last adventures a Seeing Eye dog and their instructor have is a trip to New York City. Some Seeing Eye graduates live, work, or frequent busy cities, so our instructors need to understand if this is an environment that the dogs they are training may thrive in.

Instructors already understand their dogs' strengths, but training in New York City allows them to confirm whether their dogs would be up for working in a busy environment like New York.

There is no issue if they are not! Plenty of Seeing Eye graduates live in calmer environments for which these dogs are perfectly suited!

Photo Descriptions:

- 1 – A German shepherd in harness smiles and sits in Times Square with bright screens, tall buildings, and pedestrians in the background.
- 2 – A black Lab in harness sits before the Hope sculpture in New York City.
- 3 – A yellow Lab in harness smiles as he sits before the theater entry doors for the Broadway musical The Great Gatsby.

PPAWS (People & Puppies at Work for Sight) is a dedicated group of local families from Atlantic and Cape May Counties, which raise these amazing puppies for The Seeing Eye. Until a Seeing Eye dog is ready for training, he or she lives with a puppy raising or foster family that gives the dog love, gentle guidance, and consistent care. These volunteers nurture their puppy to accomplish its special destiny. If you are interested in raising a puppy for The Seeing Eye, call Peter at (609)804-8774 or visit seeingeye.org/raise for info.

Never Flinch by Stephen King

Time has nothing on Stephen King. A half century after he staked his claim to the horror genre, he's still at it with no signs of letting up. To that point, his latest Never Flinch never wavers in its commitment to relentless entertainment and pitch-perfect pacing.

Imagine a madman, a true human monster, promising to kill fourteen people, thirteen of them random innocents, is a twisted act of vengeful comeuppance. Fortunately, the local cop who receives the letter promising just that is acquainted with Holly Gibney, paranormal and crime fiction's most unique detective. We've seen Holly before but never quite like this, as she brings her unique and hardly traditional talents to multiple, potentially interconnected cases. Ever since her debut in Mr. Mercedes, she has evolved from a one-off eccentric to a fully realized character capable of driving a book. King's evolution as a writer has been a wonder to behold. He has replaced the blistering originality of the early titles that launched him with a savvy, seasoned expansion across multiple genres and different brands of monsters. His legacy will not just be as the greatest American horror writer ever, but one of the great novelists period in our literary history.

Fever Beach by Carl Hiaasen

Carl Hiaasen swings for the fences and hits a literary homerun with his latest Florida-based romp Fever Beach, a scathingly satirical take on the American condition of today. This time out, amid the cast of detestable misfits and deplorable miscreants, are right-wing crusader Dale Figgo and typically lecherous congressman Clure Boyette (Yup, that's his name.). To counter their lunacy, Hiaasen serves up a pair of stiff-spined normals in Viva Morales and Twilly Spree. Viva happens to work for a clueless elderly couple fond of building whatever they can display their name on. Twilly, meanwhile, reads like a younger version of Hiaasen's wondrous Skink, taking up the mantle of violent action against environmental despoilers in the tradition of the reclusive former Florida governor. That Viva and Twilly are destined to join forces to run Figgo and Boyette's plans off the rails is never in doubt, the only question being how much laughter we'll be treated to in the process. On top of his last effort, Squeeze Me, with Fever Beach, Hiaasen reclaims the mojo from early classics like Skin Tight and Tourist Season. He's always great but the crazed turn our politics has taken seems to have set his creative juices afire to the point that his thinly veiled commentary serves as a side-splitting escape from the news cycle. Hiaasen's keen eye and sharp is destined to make him the best social satirist not just now, but ever.

King of Ashes by S.A. Crosby

S.A. Crosby has rocketed to literary fame on the backs of edgy, gritty tales that have set the bar for contemporary crime novels. But his latest, King of Ashes, takes him to even greater heights. Roman Carruthers has no choice but to return home after his father's car accident imperils the family's mortuary business. Roman much prefers crunching numbers to embalming corpses, and his well-off clients to those lying on a slab. That's a tough enough lifestyle change on its own, even before Roman has to take responsibility for his ne'er-do-well little brother Dante, who's run afoul of local gangsters in their sleepy, backwater Virginia hometown. Never mind the fact that those gangsters were responsible for putting his father in the hospital in the first place as a harbinger of worse things to come. King of Ashes cements Crosby's status as the undisputed modern master of crime noir. His dialogue crackles with authenticity and his staccato prose is a wonder to behold. There will never be a successor to the throne of Elmore Leonard, but Crosby is as close as we'll ever get.

Her First Mistake by Kendra Elliot

Cold cases inevitably provide great fodder for crime thrillers, and Kendra Elliot proves remarkably adept at mining that trope with her latest sizzler of a story, Her First Mistake. Noelle Marshall is lucky to be alive, considering she survived the same home invasion that claimed her husband and local politico Derrick Bell's life. A dozen years later, new evidence emerges that leads the FBI to reopen the case in the hope of identifying the killer at long last. Lo and behold, there are skeletons in Noelle's closet dating back to the night of that murder in the form of long-buried secrets. Those secrets bubble back up to the surface after the cold case gets hot again, apparently placing her life in jeopardy. Her First Mistake is a psychological thriller extraordinaire. Your only mistake is not picking it up.

Eagles Training Camp 2025: New Faces, Rising Stars, and Super Bowl Ambition

Few things are routine in this camp. Seasoned center Cam Jurgens continues at the point of the offensive line, but he's joined by young guards Tyler Steen and Kenyon Green who are battling for rotational snaps after strong early stands. Lane Johnson and Jordan Mailata keep their iron grip on the tackle spots - the former's consistency and the latter's dominance make them frontrunners for the NFL's Protector of the Year award. Their goal is clear: create lanes for Saquon Barkley to run, and pass-block with surgical precision.

On the defensive side, Vic Fangio's unit blends emerging talent with proven veteran presence. Fangio - whose résumé includes eight top-5 defenses in the NFL over 13 seasons - is nurturing a young core that's hungry to prove itself atop the league once again. The return of Pro Bowl tackle Jalen Carter marked a turning point. Showing no rust from his shoulder recovery, Carter delivered pressure and tackles among the best of any lineman during the first week.

Elsewhere, Zack Baun, coming off a 2024 All-Pro season that included a Super Bowl interception, continues to anchor linebacker play. His pairing with rookie Jihaad Campbell, who's already rotated with the first team, offers both reliability and explosive upside. In one drill, Baun executed a textbook linebacker blitz, while Campbell timed a gap-fill to perfection - both earning praise from Fangio for their football IQ and instincts.

Campbell, a 6'3", 230-pound linebacker out of Alabama, was the Eagles' second-round pick this year and comes with a national championship pedigree. At Alabama, he recorded 96 tackles, 3 sacks, and was known for sideline-to-sideline pursuit. "He has the burst and vision to adjust on the fly," said Sirianni. "But more importantly, he wants to be coached. He's a sponge."

On the back end, the cornerback position is an early highlight. Rookie Quinyon Mitchell, the team's first-round draft pick from Toledo, showcased his ability to shadow A.J. Brown without hesitation - earning praise from coaches as a player who's not just holding his own, but leading the depth chart. Behind him, Cooper DeJean, a highly-touted defensive back from Iowa, looks increasingly safe-ready, while Kelee Ringo and Adoree' Jackson rotate in nickel looks with no clear edge yet. Jackson, Fangio quipped, might not have been signed if decisions came solely from the coaching staff; that's how competitive things are.

The youth movement doesn't stop there - elbow-high receiver Elijah Cooks continues to make noise in 1-on-1 drills with physical grabs and boundary catches, earning comparisons to late bearers like DeVonta Smith. At running back, Will Shipley, the versatile speedster out of Clemson, flashed reliable hands during a touchdown drill, reinforcing that the offense offers multiple threats beyond Barkley. Shipley totaled over 2,800 yards from scrimmage in college and was widely praised for his vision and receiving abilities.

Practice buffers aren't about scoring; they're about building. Offensive Coordinator Kevin Patullo, in his first year calling plays, has introduced pre-snap motion packages and formation shifts designed to keep defenses off balance. Jalen Hurts, who delivered a borderline MVP season during Super Bowl LIX, now faces a secondary loaded with speed and unpredictability - making camp reps essential for developing timing and trust.

Camp has also seen its share of setbacks. Nakobe Dean and Andrew Mukuba remain on the injury list, while DeVonta Smith missed reps with back tightness. Yet GM Howie Roseman and staff have emphasized depth - the belief that team-building isn't loyalty to veterans, but readiness of everyone kept on the roster.

Looking ahead, a public practice is scheduled for Sunday, August 10 at Lincoln Financial Field - a rare opportunity for fans to witness the growth firsthand and support the Eagles Autism Foundation. Gates open at 5PM, with on-field warmups beginning around 6:30PM and team drills under the lights starting just after 7PM. Tickets are $10 and must be purchased in advance through Ticketmaster or the Eagles' official website. Proceeds benefit the Eagles Autism Foundation. Parking in stadium lots is included with the ticket and opens at 3PM, with tailgating permitted in designated zones.

Fans are encouraged to arrive early for giveaways, family-friendly games, and appearances by Eagles alumni and cheerleaders. Food trucks will be stationed along the Headhouse Plaza, and the Pro Shop will offer exclusive training camp gear. In years past, more than 30,000 fans have attended the open practice - making it one of the most spirited training events in the NFL.

Projected rosters suggest nearly half the starting lineup may be 28 or younger, indicating that Philadelphia isn't just planning for this season - it's cultivating the core for the next era. As Sirianni said during Monday's press briefing, "This isn't about polishing what worked. It's about discovering who we can become."
