HOROSCOPE

MAY 8 - MAY 14, 2025

ARIES (Mar. 21- April 20)

This week, focus shifts to your resources—both material and emotional. A decision about money or self-worth may surface, asking you to clarify your priorities. Don't rush; slow, thoughtful choices will benefit you long-term. Over the weekend, a new perspective helps ease recent tension.

TAURUS (Apr. 21- May 21)

The spotlight is still on you, Taurus, and you're beginning to feel the weight of recent changes. You may be rethinking how you define success—and what truly satisfies you. A powerful insight midweek could shift how you handle a key relationship. Take time Sunday to honor what feels stable.

GEMINI (May 22-June 21)

Energy dips slightly this week, nudging you toward rest, reflection, and finishing old business. A behind-the-scenes opportunity may arise—trust your instincts, even if others can't yet see your vision. Don't overshare just yet; clarity is still forming. Quiet time brings deep clarity by the weekend.

CANCER (June 22-July 22)

Your social world lights up, offering chances to connect with people who support your bigger dreams. A conversation could spark a new idea or open a door you've been knocking on. Make room for spontaneity without losing your grounding. Your vision becomes more real with each aligned step.

LEO (July 23-Aug 22)

This is a powerful week for career matters, as others begin to notice your steady efforts. A leadership opportunity could arise—are you ready to step up? Keep your ego in check and stay focused on the long game. Balance authority with humility, especially as the weekend approaches.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 23)

You're craving expansion—mentally, spiritually, or geographically—and it's time to seek out new experiences. An insightful conversation could broaden your horizons in unexpected ways. Midweek brings a choice between the familiar and the bold; lean into growth. Inspiration flows when you step outside your routine.

LIBRA (Sept. 24-Oct. 23)

You're peeling back emotional layers this week, uncovering truths about trust, intimacy, and personal power. Something long buried may rise to the surface—honor it, don't avoid it. A financial or shared-resource matter could shift midweek. Clarity returns as you release what no longer supports your growth.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 - Nov. 22)

Partnership themes intensify, and you're asked to meet others with more openness and grace. Whether in love or business, clear agreements are essential now. You may find that compromise brings surprising benefits. This weekend, prioritize time with people who truly "get" you.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 -Dec. 21)

The focus lands on health, habits, and structure—and you're more motivated than usual to get things in order. Midweek brings progress on something that once felt stalled. Routines you set now could have ripple effects for months to come. Don't forget to celebrate small wins along the way.

CAPRICORN (Dec 22.- Jan. 20)

Creative flow returns this week, as something playful or romantic begins to gain traction. A spark of inspiration early on could evolve into something more meaningful. Don't brush off lighthearted ideas—they might lead to deep satisfaction. The weekend is ideal for joy, art, or heartfelt connection.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 -Feb. 19)

Emotions rise around home, family, or your sense of belonging. Something needs rebalancing in your personal space or emotional life. A healing conversation could help you rebuild trust or set firmer boundaries. By the weekend, a sense of inner stability begins to return.

PISCES (Feb. 20-Mar. 20)

Your words carry extra weight now, so be thoughtful in what you say—and who you say it to. A moment of miscommunication early in the week could lead to surprising insight. Use your natural empathy to bridge gaps. By week's end, you'll likely be back in sync with those who matter most.

Remember when the Peace Corps adopted the slogan "The toughest job you'll ever love"? No offense, Peace Corps, but that adage is more appropriate for motherhood — a job that is ever-changing and frequently exasperating. Moms don't get days off, nor do they receive handsome salaries or generous pensions. Instead, their rewards come in the form of sticky kisses, necklaces made of elbow macaroni, and the satisfaction of seeing their children grow up to be happy, healthy adults. That's probably not adequate compensation — so give Mom an extra hug or a special gift on Mother's Day, the second Sunday in May, just in case, and follow our guide to giving back.

History of Mother's Day

Celebrations go back to ancient times when Greeks and Romans held festivals in honor of the mother goddesses Rhea and Cybele. However, the early Christian festival known as "Mothering Sunday" stands as the modern precursor. This European tradition fell on the fourth Sunday in Lent. Many believed the faithful would return on this day to their "mother church"— the main church near their home — for a special service. The Mothering Sunday tradition shifted over time into a more secular holiday where children would give their mothers flowers and other gifts. This custom would blend into the American Mother's Day in the 1930s and 1940s.

American author and poet Julia Ward Howe, who wrote "The Battle Hymn of the Republic," became the editor of Woman's Journal, a widely-read suffragist magazine, in 1872. During that time, she wrote an "Appeal to womanhood throughout the world," which would become known as the Mother's Day Proclamation. The document asked women to fight for world peace following both the Civil War and the Franco-Prussian War. Howe then launched a failed attempt to start a "Mother's Day" celebration on June 2. Two decades later Howe suggested a Mother's Day celebration every July 4. This also failed to take hold, but set the stage for a future attempt.

Anna Jarvis successfully initiated Mother's Day after her mother, Ann Reeves Jarvis, died in 1905. Jarvis noted that Mother's Day should contain a "singular possessive," (hence the apostrophe) so each family might honor its own mother — as opposed to all mothers. Jarvis, who neither married nor had children, organized the first official Mother's Day celebration in May 1908. A Philadelphia department store owner named John Wanamaker lent his financial support to the cause. That same month thousands of people attended a Mother's Day event at one of Wanamaker's stores.

Jarvis soon lobbied to make Mother's Day a national holiday — urging prominent Americans to join the effort. By 1912 many states, towns, and churches had adopted Mother's Day as an annual event. Jarvis also started the Mother's Day International Association. President Wilson would soon establish the second Sunday in May as Mother's Day in 1914. Hallmark began selling Mother's Day cards in the early 1920s.

Jarvis' love affair with the holiday she worked so hard to start did not last, and she eventually grew to resent its commercial appeal. As florists and greeting card companies began to cash in, she soured on the idea of a national day — urging people to stop buying flowers, cards and candies. Jarvis spent most of her personal wealth hiring attorneys to file lawsuits against groups using the term "Mother's Day." She even tried to persuade the federal government to remove it from the calendar.

Traditions of the Day

The undying love and selfless sacrifices of mothers are returned with some royal treatment of them on Mother's Day. It's the day to pamper the queen of the household herself! Think gifts, breakfast in bed, hand-drawn cards with stickers on them, a shopping spree or spa day, the works!

Most common traditions of the day include the kids and dad taking over the house chores and cooking for the day, spending extra time with mom, and buying mom traditional gifts like flowers, jewelry, or an item that she has had her eyes on for a while. There are great sales and discounts across several stores and restaurants, as well as special deals only for mothers. Movies and episodes related to mothers or Mother's Day are aired all day long, and talk shows and segments featuring celebrity mothers. Speaking of celebrities, mothers are the stars of the day, so their photos are all over social media.

By the Numbers

122 million – the approximate number of calls made on Mother's Day.

¼ – the fraction of all flowers sold throughout the year that are for Mother's Day.

87 million – the number of adults who made plans to go to a restaurant with their mothers on Mother's Day in 2018.

43.5 million – the number of mothers in the U.S., as of 2014.

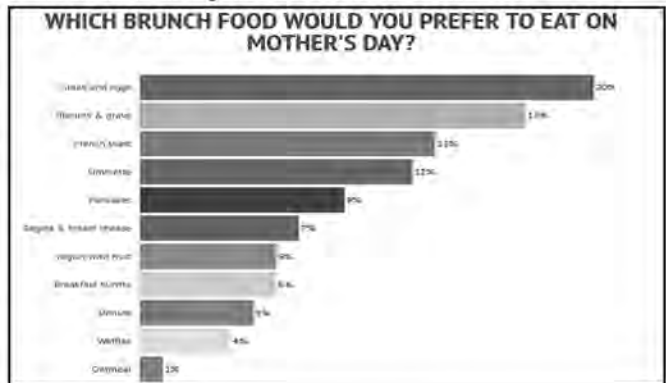

152 million – the number of Mother's Day cards sent on this holiday.

36% – the percentage of Americans who prefer buying jewelry as a gift for their mothers on Mother's Day.

777,817 – the number of daycare centers in the U.S. that make the job of being a mom a little easier.

9.9 million – the number of single mothers living with their children in 2010.

9 – the increase in working hours in a week for mothers since 1965.

Why We Love Mother's Day

• Moms! - Like so many constants in our lives, we sometimes take our parents for granted. After all, we've known them all our lives. Yes, we know that Mother's Day can feel somewhat commercialized and obligatory, but if you can think outside the checkbook and do something truly special for (or better yet, with) your mother, then why not do it?

• She can do it all - For the first couple of years, your mom fed you, protected you, and read "Goodnight Moon" to you until she knew it by heart. After that came the lessons in how to share, to try new foods, and to not wallop your brother over the head with a metal Tonka truck. She encouraged your curiosity, indulged your interests, helped form your sense of humor. In other words, she made you, well, you.

• An inclusive celebration - Maybe the woman who gave birth to you isn't with you now —but it's a good bet that there are other strong, influential women in your life. Mother figures come in many shapes, so don't take Mother's Day too literally. Say thank you to any or all of the women you know who work hard and love others, since that's essentially what mothering is all about.

But Naya dreams of creating a different kind of relationship with the magnificent creatures. One day, she discovers a filly with a chestnut coat as uncommon as her own head of red hair. ## From Sci-Fi and Thrillers to Historical Reads

Future Earth by Roy C. Carriker

This book is intended to inform and provoke discussion about what humanity faces going forward by using a spaceship as a metaphor for Earth. The two major threats at the forefront are global nuclear war and global warming, as well as Artificial Intelligence and pandemics. Although filled with worrisome facts, this book is not about gloom and doom but creating a collective grassroots awareness of the threats to life on Earth ahead.

Mankind's existence window is closing at a quickening pace. We may still have the ability to resolve or regulate all the issues presented. Climate change likely represents the greatest peril and the greatest challenge, but the challenge will not be met until there is a realization of our global, collective interdependence and a global sense of urgency. We can participate in improving the odds of mankind's survival by spreading the truth about all the issues discussed. Do not be a silent victim. Purchase at <https://amzn.to/4bG47dW>.

Change of Heart by Cristina LePort, M.D.

Enter FBI Agent Jack Mulville, who steps in to supervise Special Agent Charlotte Bloom as they join forces with Miner. Together, they unravel a web of corruption, revealing that Amy Winter's death is connected to a ruthless organ trafficking ring.

Change of Heart is a gripping medical thriller that intertwines the intricacies of modern medicine with the relentless pursuit of justice. Cristina LePort, M.D., masterfully combines her medical expertise with edge-of-your-seat storytelling, delivering a novel that will keep you turning pages long into the night. National Small Business Day celebrated on May 10. Today, we celebrate the self-employed and those with startups. We appreciate the individuals with big ideas and the drive to make them come true. The United States has always thrived on the idea of entrepreneurship. It's the land of dreams and opportunity, where anything's possible. The pursuit of aspirations has taken different forms throughout history. But none have been quite as inspiring as America's small businesses run by individuals with true grit and heart who willed themselves to succeed. Their stories are encouraging because they represent what all of us could achieve. For over 50 years the U.S. Small Business Administration has also celebrated National Small Business Week.

History of National Small Business Day

Small businesses have been the heart of life and economy in the U.S. since the first settlers arrived. The idea of a self-made man emerged during this time when virtuous was the pioneer who built a home and life for his family despite the odds. Many colonists during this period lived on small farms in far-flung rural areas. With only the wilderness and their farms for sustenance, families had no choice but to be self-sufficient. Many people also made essential items at home.

Since the country was still very young, all businesses were small-scale. Trading in crops and services helped the economy go 'round. However, the transportation of goods from one point to another took ages. There were also no machines since automation didn't exist yet and banks, as we know them today, had not been established. Fast forward to the 1800s, and a new America was born. It marked the era of large-scale economic activity and manufacturing. The number of affluent Americans increased, as did the demand for goods. Modern corporations that employed thousands of workers fuelled this booming economy. In this environment, small businesses had trouble keeping up.

The story came full circle in the 20th century when large corporations faced stiff competition from businesses based overseas. America's small businesses rose to the occasion during this period. As small businesses thrived, so did America's economy. Many more people began to take an interest in entrepreneurship. Turning an idea into a business was no longer a dream but a viable possibility. Start-ups were born, and venture capital financing took the world by storm.

Today, the U.S. has over 32.5 million small businesses — from mom-and-pop stores to establishments providing jobs to entire towns. America would not be the same without its small businesses.

National Small Business Day Activities

- Support small businesses - Visit a favorite local business today. Show some love by buying or highlighting their work on social media.
- Shop local - Do you need groceries, flowers, or a new dress? Choose to buy from a small business today and every other day.
- Start a small business - Toyed with the idea of having your own business? Draft that plan. Make the call. No better day than today to take action.

Facts About Startups That Will Blow Your Mind

1. Most startups begin small - Even tech giants like Facebook had humble beginnings — inside a dormitory, actually.
2. Beyond tech startups - Any company is a startup if it solves a problem without an obvious solution and has no guarantee of success.
3. Vision over college degrees - Most startup founders such as Steve Jobs, Bill Gates, and Michael Dell are school dropouts.
4. 50% fail to launch - Most startups will fail within the first five years.
5. Sometimes, crazy works - Rent The Chicken (portable chicken coops) and Freight Farms (shipping container farms) are examples of unconventional ideas that worked.
6. New CEOs in town - The number of businesses owned by African-American women has grown 322% since 1997.

NATIONAL SMALL BUSINESS DAY TIMELINE

Why We Love National Small Business Day

- It's uplifting and inspiring - These are homegrown businesses with heart. The success of a small business provides livelihoods and supports entire communities.
- It provides dignity - A small business provides access to high-quality jobs near your place of residence. You don't need to relocate and have to spend money on rent because you're so far away from home.
- A celebration of entrepreneurship - We're always in awe of gritty entrepreneurs. The ones who persevere and build something incredible from scratch.

Tell us about your team. Chef Rikhi Pandeya grew up in Nepal in humble surroundings with a deep passion for travel. Many of Rikhi's family travelled far and wide as Chefs to various countries. Inspired by this Rikhi followed their steps and started his career working with the tandoor and moved to Delhi landing at the Taj Delhi, where Rikhi went on to win the coveted "Taj Culinary Award". He found an opportunity with Asian cuisine working in Shangrila, Delhi's premier Asian Cuisine restaurant. This stint and introduction to Asian Cuisine was the beginning of a culinary journey for Rikhi. His travels to Singapore, Thailand and Malaysia inspired and ignited his passion and romance with Asian Cuisine. His travel bug took him to Dubai and then to Bermuda working in Asian restaurant kitchens.

Jasmine Desi Asian Grill

Submitted by: Judy Brenna, GACCA Communications Director
Catering & Events Director, Blue Dog Hospitality Group

Chef Navjot Arora's romance with Southeast Asian cuisine was kindled by many trips to Thailand, Singapore, and Malaysia. Chef Navjot owned two restaurants in Westchester, NY, Sambal and Chutney Masala, an acclaimed MICHELIN BIB GOURMAND restaurant, and voted the Best of West Chester, New York 6 years in a row! Chef Navjot was looking to spread his wings and expand – the opportunity that Jasmine created was an ideal match of his talent and the local community need for this specialty food! Chef Navjot Arora's active involvement and commitment to the community by participating in various food drives and feeding the needy, also featured on the "Beat Bobby Flay" TV show.

Romesh, an avid foodie from South Jersey with deep ties in the community joined up with Rikhi Pandeya and Navjot Arora to bring Jasmine together and serve the local community a mouthwatering savory, spicy, zesty, flavorful menu. Having travelled extensively throughout South East Asia and experiencing the food and culture, Romesh along with Rikhi and Navot are excited to meet the needs and desires of the community with a unique gastronomical experience with our tasty food, service and ambience.

KISSING YOUR DOG MAY NOT BE THE BEST IDEA

Submitted By Patsy Nelson
from The Wagging Tail

I would like to get kisses from my nine-year-old Maltese, Zoey, but they are few and far between. However, she kisses Bob all the time, then gets excited if he is holding her against his chest talking baby talk to her and tries to thrash at his face with her paws often giving him a bad scratch with her nails. (masochist?) Ebby, on the other hand, will kiss me over and over, but rarely gives Bob a lick as much as he "Cooos" and begs her.

Pet owners can be crazy about showering their pets with kisses. I am one of them. I have tried only once in the last nearly four years since adopting Ebby, to kiss her belly, as she moved to bite me. That was within the first year. But she pleads with her eyes and her body to rub and tickle her belly all the time. She is reactive and would not mean to hurt me. But I kiss her all the time around her face and her ears, and I do even grab her snout and plant a kiss on her mouth. I find that all animals are very responsive to kissing as a sign of love.

I had to take her to the vet Dr. Mike, on Monday and back again yesterday morning and last night, as she was feeling quite unwell, vomiting, would not eat (except an obsession with certain grass in the backyard-no fertilizer) and would not drink. I will know more when the blood work comes back tomorrow. Dr. Mike suspects she may have an autoimmune disease like Addison's, which Zoey has, and about which I recently wrote in my two-week articles on Autoimmune diseases in dogs and cats. Or she may have pancreatitis. This morning thanks to her cortisone shot, she is back to eating, drinking, barking, and wagging her tail. When Dr. Mike remarked about her giving me a lick as I took her off the table, I thought about something I had read in Reader's Digest.

According to the article (September 2024) there was a recent survey revealing that 61% of dog owners admit to kissing their dogs on the mouth. Even though there is the possibility of zoonotic (animal-to-human) diseases, including Pasteurella, which results in skin inflammation and joint infections (I have skin issues and joint inflammation;) salmonella (stomach cramps, fever) and E. coli (diarrhea, bloodstream infections.) The chances of Ebby or Zoey passing a parasite or anything else to us is low, except... when it isn't. "If you're young, old, pregnant or immunocompromised, if you have bad acne or psoriasis or an easily infected open wound, I'd avoid being licked on the face," advises veterinarian Scott Weese, chief of infection control at Ontario Veterinary College. Pick your licks wisely, as anything they licked, dogs lick EVERYTHING! (Ebby licks her butt a lot) may end up inside you. "For lots of people, kissing is a part of bonding with their pet. If that's you and the risk is worth it, that's fine." I don't know if I could ever quit wanting those kisses.

Thank you again for choosing The Wagging Tail as Best of The Jersey Shore, three years in a row.

Thank you always for helping a small, local business stay in business. In case you did not know, we have

A Weekly Guide to Health Awareness

YOGA POSE OF THE WEEK - Knees, Chest, and Chin (Ashtanga Namaskara)

Ashtanga Namaskara was once taught to all beginning yoga students as an alternative to and preparation for Chaturanga Dandasana. In recent years, it's fallen out of favor. As a result, some students are rushed into Chaturanga before they are ready. It belongs in the sun salutation series for beginners. Plus, it's an excellent warmup yoga pose for deeper backbends. Take your time and enter the yoga pose slowly from a plank. Lower your knees to the yoga mat with your toes tucked. Keep your elbows in toward your body as you lower your chest and chin to the floor. Shoulders should hover over your hands.

KNEES, CHEST, AND CHIN POSE

Keep your elbows tucked in and your hips lifted as you bring your chest to the floor.

VITAMIN HIGHLIGHT - Vitamin E

It's something called an antioxidant, which protects your cells from damage caused by cigarette smoke, pollution, sunlight, and more. Vitamin E also helps your cells talk to each other and keeps blood moving. Sunflower seeds and nuts including almonds, hazelnuts, and peanuts are good sources. If you're allergic to those, vegetable oils (like safflower and sunflower), spinach, and broccoli have vitamin E, too.

COLLEEN WUNDERLICH & Nora

Soon after graduating with an MBA from the University of Chicago and beginning a new job in Downtown Chicago, Colleen Wunderlich found her daily commute to be a labyrinth of construction sites, traffic jams, and rushing pedestrians. After several mishaps including “getting knocked over in a train station,” she learned about the comfort and confidence that a Seeing Eye dog could provide. And choosing that made a huge difference in her life.

Nearly 25 years later, Colleen is now the Vice President of Partnership at The Chicago Lighthouse and working with her fourth Seeing Eye dog, a black Labrador/golden retriever cross named Nora. Colleen leads a busy and professionally satisfying life and Nora’s a major part of it. Nora is even a lifesaver who saved Colleen from being hit by a city bus!

The photo shows a smiling Colleen in business dress on a leisurely stroll on a tree-lined sidewalk in Chicago with Nora in professional mode leading the way.

Colleen says, “With Nora, every day is more of a happy adventure. When I want to go somewhere or attend an event, I see it as an adventure for Nora and me. We always have fun and meet people while we are out together. And when we get in a bind, we figure our way out together. Nora’s presence brings many people to me who I would otherwise miss the opportunity to meet.”

PPAWS (People & Puppies at Work for Sight) is a dedicated group of local families from Atlantic and Cape May Counties, which raise these amazing puppies for The Seeing Eye.
