As beach season hits its stride in Atlantic County, so do the headlines. A dorsal fin spotted near Margate. A swimmer in Cape May swears they saw a shadow. Local Facebook groups light up with blurry videos and worried emojis. But behind the summertime buzz, there's a deeper story worth telling - one of science, conservation, and the crucial role sharks play in our coastal ecosystem.

July is often dubbed "shark season," not because the animals suddenly arrive, but because warmer waters bring them closer to shore - and bring more of us into their habitat. Most of the species frequenting New Jersey's waters are smaller, non-aggressive varieties like sandbar sharks, dogfish, and smooth hammerheads. They're drawn by the same things we are this time of year: abundant food, calm surf, and long hours of daylight.

And while sightings do tend to spike this time of year, actual encounters are incredibly rare. According to the Florida Museum's International Shark Attack File, the odds of a shark bite in New Jersey remain less than one in 10 million. In fact, you're more likely to be injured by fireworks, lawn mowers, or even vending machines. Still, the fin above water taps into something primal - and that's been part of the Jersey Shore's summer lore for generations.

It's no coincidence that Peter Benchley, author of Jaws, spent time researching at the Jersey Shore. Or that shark-themed merchandise fills boardwalk shops from Ocean City to Brigantine each July. But while the fear factor sells, marine biologists say the real conversation should be about balance. Sharks are apex predators, crucial to keeping fish populations healthy and ocean ecosystems in check.

Ocean Ramsey, a prominent shark conservationist who has swum with some of the largest great whites on record, often reminds people that fear is rarely based in fact. "Sharks are not mindless killers," she says. "They're intelligent, curious animals who have far more to fear from us than we do from them. Education and awareness are the best ways to promote coexistence."

In recent years, research teams from Rutgers and Monmouth universities have tagged and tracked sharks off our coast, helping to map migratory patterns and monitor environmental changes. Some of their findings are surprising: juvenile great whites use New Jersey's coastal waters as a kind of nursery, and blacktip sharks - once rare - are becoming more common thanks to warming trends.

For locals and vacationers alike, understanding this helps reframe the story. Sharks aren't invaders - they're residents. And their return each summer is a sign of a thriving, biodiverse coastline. Organizations like the Atlantic City Aquarium and the Marine Mammal Stranding Center in Brigantine often host educational programming for families, helping to shift the narrative from fear to fascination.

So if you happen to spot a fin this week, take a breath before you panic. You may just be witnessing a vital piece of the Atlantic come to life. And in an era where ocean health is more fragile than ever, that's something to celebrate.

Shark Safety: What to Know, Just in Case

While encounters are rare, it's always good to be prepared. If you see a shark while swimming, stay calm and don't thrash - sudden movement can attract attention. Instead, slowly and steadily back toward shore while keeping the animal in sight. Avoid swimming near schools of fish, seals, or birds diving for bait - these can signal active feeding zones. Dusk and dawn are also peak feeding times, so extra caution is advised. And always swim in groups; sharks are more likely to approach a solitary figure.

If a sighting occurs near your beach, alert the nearest lifeguard immediately. Most New Jersey shore towns have marine response protocols in place, and lifeguards will notify beach patrol or local police if warranted. Do not call 911 unless there is an emergency or someone is injured. For non-emergencies or post-sighting questions, contact your local beach patrol headquarters or the New Jersey Division of Fish and Wildlife's Marine Fisheries office at (609) 748-2020. Remember: sharks are a vital part of the ecosystem, not enemies. Awareness is key to safety - and conservation.

HOROSCOPE

JULY 17 - JULY 23, 2025

ARIES (Mar. 21-April 20)

You're fired up to make a bold move, but rushing it could backfire. Take a beat to review the fine print—especially in work or travel plans. Your instincts are sharp, but they're even stronger when paired with patience. Big wins come from big-picture thinking.

TAURUS (Apr. 21-May 21)

You're craving stability, but the universe may toss a twist your way. Financial or emotional security is in focus, and it's time to reevaluate what truly makes you feel safe. A conversation later in the week could shift your priorities. Stay rooted, not rigid.

GEMINI (May 22-June 21)

Your words hold weight this week—whether in a close relationship or a public setting. Don't waste your voice on small talk when you have something real to say. A partnership may deepen through honest dialogue. Ask the question you've been avoiding.

CANCER (June 22-July 22)

You're stepping out of your birthday season with more clarity than you expected. This week is about integration—letting recent insights take shape in your everyday life. Focus on health, habits, and small routines that make a big difference. Your future self will thank you.

LEO (July 23-Aug 22)

Your solar season begins this week—welcome to your glow-up. Confidence returns in full force, and others can't help but notice. Just remember that authenticity is more magnetic than performance. Lead with joy, and the spotlight will follow.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 23)

You're feeling reflective, and your inner world holds more answers than the noise around you. Take time to unplug and recharge—your body and mind are asking for it. A creative spark may surface when you least expect it. Listen to your quiet urges.

LIBRA (Sept. 24-Oct. 23)

Your social life is buzzing, but you may be craving deeper, more meaningful connections. A new friendship or collaboration could open unexpected doors. Don't spread yourself too thin trying to please everyone. Prioritize what feels reciprocal and real.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22)

Your ambition is heating up, and people are starting to notice your efforts. This is a great week to speak up about your goals—but be strategic, not showy. Recognition is coming, but don't let ego cloud your focus. Quiet power speaks volumes.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21)

You're ready to shake things up and break out of routine. Travel, learning, or spiritual insight could spark a fresh perspective. Don't be afraid to rethink your path. Growth starts when you let go of outdated beliefs.

CAPRICORN (Dec 22-Jan. 20)

You're moving through emotional terrain that feels both vulnerable and empowering. A financial or intimate matter comes into sharper focus. This is the time to renegotiate—not just with others, but with yourself. Choose empowerment over control.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21-Feb. 19)

Relationships of all kinds are up for review, and the balance between give and take is shifting. A conversation midweek could redefine what partnership means to you. Be open to a new dynamic—but stay true to your values. It's not about compromise; it's about clarity.

PISCES (Feb. 20-Mar. 20)

You're fine-tuning your habits, routines, and boundaries—and it's paying off. Small tweaks now have ripple effects later. Don't ignore what your body is telling you. Taking care of yourself is the most productive thing you can do this week.

STREET PARADE - SUNSET SOCA CONCERT - BOATRIDE

FROM THE HEART OF ATLANTIC COUNTY MAGAZINE

The streets of Pleasantville will erupt in color, music, and movement this Saturday as the AC Carnival returns for its 14th year, bringing with it a full weekend of cultural celebration that spans from land to sea. What began as a small local event has evolved into one of South Jersey's most spirited tributes to Caribbean heritage, featuring a vibrant street parade, a high-energy soca concert, and a reflective Sunday boat ride out of Atlantic City.

The Carnival Street Parade on Saturday, July 19, unfolds beneath the summer sun as residents and visitors gather along a two-mile route that stretches from Alder Avenue to Bayview Avenue. The parade steps off at 10:30 a.m., led by costumed masqueraders, marching bands, and dancers moving to the unmistakable rhythms of soca, reggae, and steelpan. Along the sidewalks, spectators wave flags, cheer for performers, and dance alongside the procession.

Each float tells its own story—some adorned with imagery of island folklore, others paying homage to ancestral traditions. Vibrant depictions of tropical landscapes, historic symbols, and national icons bring the route to life, offering a feast for the eyes and a moment of pride for many in the crowd. The parade isn't just a show—it's an immersive tribute to cultural identity and the enduring spirit of the Caribbean community in Atlantic County.

As the sun begins to set, the celebration shifts but never slows. Bayview Avenue transforms into a pulsing outdoor venue for the Sunset Soca Concert, running from 5 to 9 p.m. With music in the air and Caribbean flags strung across the venue, the energy becomes electric. Guests arrive dressed in vibrant attire—some elegant, some playful, many bearing symbols of their island roots.

Caribbean Pride on Parade: AC Carnival Returns This Weekend

Steelpan melodies and DJ sets create a soundscape that keeps the crowd moving, while local vendors serve everything from jerk chicken and fried plantains to colorful tropical drinks. The concert is less a performance and more a shared experience—an open invitation to dance, connect, and celebrate with neighbors, friends, and family.

On Sunday, July 20, the pace slows, but the spirit remains. Boarding begins at 8:30 a.m. at Gardner's Basin in Atlantic City for the Carnival Boat Ride, a chance to take the weekend's energy to the water. The cruise sails through the calm back bays, offering sweeping views of the shoreline and skyline while DJs provide a mellow Caribbean soundtrack.

Guests relax on deck, sip rum punch or fruit juice, and swap stories from the day before. The ride offers a moment of reflection after a weekend that brought so many together through joy, movement, and shared cultural pride. For more information on parade routes, artist lineups, and cruise tickets, visit accarnival.com.

Any age over 100 is a milestone and that certainly holds true for Lucy the Elephant who will turn 144 this month. This year's birthday celebration will be held with a bit of a different twist. Because Lucy's Gift Shop has been temporarily located across the street from the giant elephant, the party will be held on Atlantic Ave. between Decatur and Washington Avenues on Saturday, July 19th from 10am to 8pm.

"Last week, we demolished our aging gift shop to make way for a brand new state of the art ADA compliant welcome center. Until the new building is open, hopefully by mid summer 2027, we will be operating out of temporary facilities across the street from Lucy", said Lucy's Executive Director, Richard Helfant. "So we decided to move the party to Atlantic Ave", he said.

We have added some new features this year including 27' double lane water slide, a life size snow globe where we will be featuring Lucy's brand new "Ugly Holiday Sweater" and Zap-a-Mole. Returning favorites are an orange crush castle bounce, the Lucy Express Trackless Train ride and a 9 hole mini-golf course. Jersey shore favorites such as Lenny's hot dogs, Philly Hot pretzels, funnel cake fries, Hawaiian sliders, and sodas will be available. New this year, will be frozen drinks too.

At 3pm, we will be introducing Mr. Steven Gottlieb, who is one of the original Save Lucy Committee members, formed in 1970 to save Lucy from the wrecking ball. We are honored to welcome Mr. Gottlieb who boasts that his involvement with Lucy those many years ago steered him to a successful career as an architect. Mr. Gottlieb will be introduced at 3pm when we traditionally sing Happy Birthday to Lucy and hand out birthday donuts, courtesy of Margate Donuts.

Lucy's 144th birthday commemorative t shirt features Lucy in her Hawaiian Luau grass skirt. And, of course, tours inside the World's Largest Elephant will be on-going all day long. Be sure to check out Lucy's annual pedicure...can you guess what color they are this year???

HEALTHFUL LIVING

A Weekly Guide to Health Awareness

YOGA POSE OF THE WEEK - Child's Pose (Balasana)

Child's pose is essential because it's the position you assume whenever you need a break during a yoga class. If you feel fatigued, don't wait for the instructor to call for a break.

Move into Child's pose and rejoin the class when you're ready. It provides a gentle stretch for your back, hips, thighs, and ankles, and does not challenge strength or balance.

Taking Child's pose is really up to your discretion, introducing one of yoga's best lessons: being attuned to the signals of your body and respecting them above any external directions.

CHILD'S POSE

TIP

Spread your knees as wide as your mat. Let your belly rest between your thighs and rest your forehead on the floor.

VITAMIN HIGHLIGHT - Calcium

Its strength makes it the building block for your bones and teeth. It's also key to make muscles move, including your heart. Get calcium from milk, cheese, yogurt, and other dairy foods, and from green vegetables like kale and broccoli. How much you need depends on your age and gender. Check with your doctor about whether you should take a supplement.

MENTAL HEALTH CHECK-IN

Is there anything I am avoiding in life, and what might happen if I faced it directly?

RIP CURRENTS

KNOW YOUR OPTIONS

IF CAUGHT IN A RIP CURRENT

- Relax, rip currents don't pull you under.
- Don't swim against the current.
- Swim out of the current, then to shore.
- If you can't escape, float or tread water.
- If you need help, yell or wave for assistance.

Rip currents are powerful currents of water moving away from shore. They can sweep even the strongest swimmer away from shore. If at all possible, swim near a lifeguard.

Stay Safe in the Surf: A Guide to Water Safety at the Jersey Shore

The Jersey Shore is synonymous with summer fun—sunny beach days, refreshing ocean dips, and thrilling surf. But as inviting as the Atlantic Ocean, bays, and inlets may seem, these waters demand respect. Each year, thousands of visitors flock to Atlantic and Cape May Counties to enjoy the shore, and knowing how to stay safe can mean the difference between a great day and a dangerous one.

Respect the Ocean's Power

The ocean at the Jersey Shore can change quickly, with shifting tides, sudden drop-offs, and powerful currents. Rip currents, in particular, pose a significant hazard. Often invisible from shore, these narrow channels of fast-moving water can pull swimmers out beyond the breaking waves. If caught in one, stay calm—don't try to swim directly back to shore. Instead, swim parallel to the beach until you're free of the current, then angle back toward land.

When possible, swim only at guarded beaches. Lifeguards are trained to spot hazards, assist swimmers in distress, and respond quickly in emergencies. Many Jersey Shore towns, including Ocean City, Wildwood, Cape May, Atlantic City, and Brigantine, staff their beaches with lifeguards daily during peak season, typically from Memorial Day through Labor Day.

Know the Conditions

Before heading out, check the day's surf and weather reports. Local news, beach patrol websites, and flag systems provide updates on tide times, rip current risks, jellyfish sightings, and storm advisories. Be especially cautious after storms, when surf conditions can remain rough even if skies are clear.

Additionally, always be aware of boat traffic in bays and inlets, where swimmers, kayakers, and paddleboarders share the water with motorized vessels. Wearing a U.S. Coast Guard-approved life jacket is essential for boating and recommended for inexperienced swimmers in deeper waters.

Supervise Children Closely

Even on calm days, waves can knock over small children or carry them farther out than expected. Stay within arm's reach of young swimmers, and consider outfitting them with brightly colored swimwear or rash guards for visibility. Teach children to recognize lifeguards and seek help if they feel unsafe.

Smart Shore Habits

- Stay sober while swimming or boating. Alcohol impairs judgment, balance, and reaction times.
- Obey posted signs and lifeguard instructions. Many towns prohibit swimming after hours, when no lifeguards are present.
- Don't overestimate your abilities. The ocean is not a pool. If you're not a strong swimmer, stay in shallower water where you can touch bottom.

Enjoy the Water, Respect the Risks

The Jersey Shore's waters offer unforgettable fun but a safe beach day starts with smart choices. By understanding the ocean's power, heeding local guidance, and watching out for one another, visitors can make the most of their time at the shore—keeping memories joyful and worry-free.

Catering & Events Director, Blue Dog Hospitality Group

Name of venue: Atlantic City Cruises

Where are you located? 800 N New Hampshire Avenue at the Historic Gardner's Basin in Atlantic City, NJ.

What are your hours of operation? We are open 7 days a week!

Parking tips: There is plenty of free parking!

Tell us a little about yourself: Atlantic City Cruises offers a variety of narrated boat tours from Historic Gardner's Basin, including dolphin watching adventures, sightseeing cruises, and happy hour cruises. The flagship vessel, Cruisn 1, provides scenic views of the Atlantic City skyline and coastline.

What does your venue specialize in? Spend the day at the bay with us coasting along the Historic Gardner's Basin. From dolphin-watching and sunset cruises to Tiki Boat fun, Atlantic City Cruises is the perfect destination to spend a delightful hour, an afternoon, or the day by the bay.

What is the current reason one MUST come to your venue? The best thing about Atlantic City cruises, particularly Atlantic City Cruises' Dolphin Watching Adventure, is the opportunity to see dolphins in their natural habitat. The cruises offer a chance to observe these playful creatures up close, often riding the wake of the boat, while also providing educational commentary from onboard marine naturalists.

Do you host events on the boats? If you want to book a party with alcohol, your first thought might be to reserve space at a bar or restaurant. Instead of going with a traditional, ordinary event, why not have a party on the water? We are the PERFECT space for hosting your next event! Be it a birthday celebration, anniversary, bachelor and bachelorette or even a wedding, there is nothing like coasting along the glistening water at sunset with your closest friends and family. You want your bachelor or bachelorette party to be a once-in-a-lifetime event. Atlantic City Tiki Boat will make your morning, afternoon or night unforgettable with our party boat rental in Atlantic City, NJ. You and your guests can dance the night away on our boat with space for 25. We don't just give you a fun tour of the city-you can also enjoy our full bar with dedicated bartender service to make sure no glass runs empty.

Tell us a little about your history. Atlantic City Cruises is owned and operated by Jeffrey George. Captain Jeff bought Atlantic City Cruises from his father and has since been embarking on open water journeys for 27 seasons now!

Is there any other important information we should know? Be sure to arrive well before your cruise departure time to allow appropriate time for boarding. We offer a host of snacks, cameras, binoculars, and merchandise to benefit your experience - all available for purchase on the boat. We also strongly recommend that you bring appropriate clothing, footwear, jacket/sweater, sunscreen, and camera of your own to be prepared for the daily temperatures and make memories! More info about reservations, recommendations, and amenities can be found below. We look forward to sailing with you!

Sat, July 19th at Noon - ALWAYS ON THE THIRD SATURDAY AT 12pm

Location: Gateway building 1433 Bacharach Blvd, Atlantic City, NJ 08401

Details: We will bring the pizza and plates for our homeless friends. We are asking you to please bring 5-10 bags of food (brown paper bag lunches) and toiletries to hand out to homeless people. Most people make turkey sandwiches or peanut butter jelly sandwiches and a bag of chips. Travel size toiletries are always very popular. If you can bring soap, deodorant, toothbrushes, and toothpaste that would be a huge help.

If you don't want to hand out food, clothing, and toiletries with us but would like to donate food, clothing, and toiletries we'll be there from 12:00 pm to 1:00pm so you can drop your items off. Your donation would mean a lot to someone in need.

We accept adult clothing donations at this event.

We'll be at this location handing out food, clothing, and toiletries. Kids are always welcome to come out with us.

We encourage you to tell your neighbors, family, and friends about the event. This is a free public event, come out with us and do one kind act a month. If we all come together we can have a huge impact on a homeless community.

What's Fresh This Week: July Produce in Atlantic County

The height of summer brings Atlantic County's farmers markets to their most flavorful moment. From Hammonton's famous blueberries to sweet Jersey corn and blushing local peaches, this week's harvest is a celebration of freshness you can taste. Most of what's for sale was picked that very morning - meaning you're not just eating local, you're eating what's at its absolute peak.

Blueberries are in full swing, firm and bursting with sweetness. Corn is tender enough to eat raw, straight off the cob, and so sweet it doesn't need butter. Tomatoes - especially heirloom varieties - are showing off their full range of color and flavor. Peaches are soft, fragrant, and dripping with juice. Even herbs, beans, and early eggplants are thriving in this stretch of steady sun and warm nights.

This is the kind of produce that barely needs a recipe. But if you're looking for ways to make it shine, we've included two no-fuss ideas below: a Blueberry & Corn Summer Salad that brings the season together in a single bowl, and a Home-Brewed Peach Iced Tea sweetened with local honey and packed with ripe flavor.

Blueberry & Corn Summer Salad

Ingredients:

- 1 cup fresh blueberries
- 2 ears corn, kernels cut off the cob (raw or lightly steamed)
- 1 cup cherry tomatoes, halved
- 1 small cucumber, diced
- 1/4 cup red onion, finely chopped
- 1/4 cup fresh basil, chopped
- Juice of 1 lemon
- 2 tbsp extra virgin olive oil
- Salt and pepper to taste

Instructions: In a large bowl, gently combine blueberries, corn, tomatoes, cucumber, and red onion. Add chopped basil, lemon juice, and olive oil. Toss lightly. Season with salt and pepper to taste. Chill before serving, or enjoy immediately.

Home-Brewed Peach Iced Tea with Local Honey

Ingredients:

- 4 ripe peaches, pitted and sliced
- 4 black tea bags
- 6 cups water
- 1/4 cup local honey (adjust to taste)
- Juice of half a lemon
- Fresh mint for garnish (optional)

Instructions: In a saucepan, bring 4 cups of water and the peach slices to a boil. Simmer for 10 minutes, then mash the peaches slightly with a spoon. Remove from heat, add tea bags, and let steep for 5-7 minutes. Strain into a pitcher, pressing peaches to extract maximum flavor. Add remaining 2 cups cold water. Stir in honey and lemon juice. Chill thoroughly. Serve over ice with a sprig of mint.

From roadside farmstands to bustling market tents, this week is about freshness at its finest. Whether you're packing a picnic, hosting friends, or just looking to eat better without overthinking it, the flavors are already here—and they're perfect.

ATLANTIC COUNTY FARMER'S MARKETS

Marina & Andy

Marina Heide Peacock of Luck, Wisconsin, has been matched with two Seeing Eye dogs, Gretel and Andy.

"I was in my 70s when I was matched with Gretel, and in my 80s when I was matched with Andy. Perhaps I will be in my 90s when I am matched with my next dog," Marina said. "But Andy is a tremendous dog and he is working very well."

Marina was born in Berlin in 1937, and her father, a well-known actor, was imprisoned for his criticism of the Nazis. As a teenager, Marina came to the United States, where she eventually married Mark Peacock and had her own practice as a clinical social worker.

Marina's incredible experiences with her Seeing Eye dogs is told in a book, Gretel and Andy, God's Gift: The Lives of Two Seeing Eye Dogs.

"The book is written from the dogs' standpoint. I feel like I understand dogs very well, and cats too. Dogs talk to me, and these dogs talk through me," Marina said.

PPAWS - People & Puppies at Work for Sight "MEET THE PACK!"

TAKING ON THE BIG APPLE

One of the last adventures a Seeing Eye dog and their instructor have is a trip to New York City. Some Seeing Eye graduates live, work, or frequent busy cities, so our instructors need to understand if this is an environment that the dogs they are training may thrive in.

Instructors already understand their dogs' strengths, but training in New York City allows them to confirm whether their dogs would be up for working in a busy environment like New York.

There is no issue if they are not! Plenty of Seeing Eye graduates live in calmer environments for which these dogs are perfectly suited!

- 1 – A German shepherd in harness smiles and sits in Times Square with bright screens, tall buildings, and pedestrians in the background.
- 2 – A black Lab in harness sits before the Hope sculpture in New York City.
- 3 – A yellow Lab in harness smiles as he sits before the theater entry doors for the Broadway musical The Great Gatsby.

PPAWS (People & Puppies at Work for Sight) is a dedicated group of local families from Atlantic and Cape May Counties, which raise these amazing puppies for The Seeing Eye. Until a Seeing Eye dog is ready for training, he or she lives with a puppy raising or foster family that gives the dog love, gentle guidance, and consistent care. These volunteers nurture their puppy to accomplish its special destiny. If you are interested in raising a puppy for The Seeing Eye, call Peter at (609)804-8774 or visit seeingeye.org/raise for info.

Milestones of a Century: What 100 Years Looks Like in Atlantic County

What does 100 years look like in Atlantic County? Ask someone who's lived it, and they'll transport you to trolley rattles on Atlantic Avenue, the salty breeze before neon signs lit the boardwalk, and the sound of families laughing over shoebox lunches beneath cotton umbrellas. They'll recall Frank Sinatra at the 500 Club, Grandma in her wool bathing suit, kids wading in the surf before cameras and smartphones, and beach houses passed down through generations.

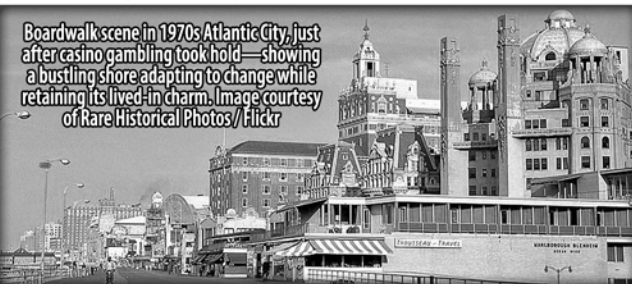

In 1925, Atlantic County thrummed with life. Prohibition-era Atlantic City attracted speculators and society types alike. Nucky Johnson operated with panache, orchestrating political power and bootlegged liquor behind the scenes. Steel Pier shimmered with vaudeville stars and daredevil diving horses. And Atlantic County was more than its headline glamour: it was a landscape of farms, seaside cottages, and corner grocers where life was measured by tides and traditions.

Yet beyond the spotlight, the fabric of daily life - walking to school barefoot, tending a garden after chores, gathering at church picnics - underscores a truth Blue Zones researchers have echoed: longevity isn't about extremes, but consistency. From Okinawa to Sardinia, long-lived communities share common habits: steady movement, plant-based diets, strong social ties, low stress, clear life purpose. Atlantic County, it turns out, follows the same blueprint - even if it never called it that.

By the 1950s, the Garden State Parkway ushered in a post-war beach renaissance. Families loaded station wagons with towels, coolers, and shoebox lunches (hence the nickname "shoobies"), cruising south for summer. The boardwalk evolved, but the rituals stayed consistent: fishing off piers, presidents' days filled with clams, and evening walks under Adirondack lounge chairs. Farmers' markets sprang up, bringing fresh produce in from nearby fields.

Casinos arrived in the 1970s, reshaping the skyline, but not the routine. Suburban sprawl spread formal cities, yet in towns like Ventnor, Somers Point, and Hammonton, multi-generational continuity kept traditions alive. Folks still queued up for clam shacks, smoked the pipe at little league games, and showed up—to morning services, to potluck dinners, to church bazaars.

Now, Atlantic County's oldest residents - many approaching 100 - aren't outliers. They're part of a community formed by daily rhythms. Mornings filled with sunrise beach walks, afternoons spent fishing the seawall at sunset, evenings steeped in conversation at summer clubs for books, art, or coastal photography. They share meals rooted in the Garden State: Jersey tomatoes, sweet corn, blueberries, garden vegetables harvested at the peak of season. Home dinners often feature clams harvested offshore - a simple culinary ritual within reach of thousands.

Now, Atlantic County's oldest residents - many approaching 100 - aren't outliers. They're part of a community formed by daily rhythms. Mornings filled with sunrise beach walks, afternoons spent fishing the seawall at sunset, evenings steeped in conversation at summer clubs for books, art, or coastal photography. They share meals rooted in the Garden State: Jersey tomatoes, sweet corn, blueberries, garden vegetables harvested at the peak of season. Home dinners often feature clams harvested offshore - a simple culinary ritual within reach of thousands.

These everyday elements - gentle exercise, seasonal produce, social connection, and purpose - match what longevity science has revealed. A quote from local gerontology specialist Dr. Elaine Morelli captures it: "Connection and context are as critical to long life as nutrition or exercise. When residents stay rooted - physically, socially, culturally - it fosters resilience."

Statistically, centenarians remain rare - just 0.03% of Americans reach the century mark - but in New Jersey, more than 2,300 live today, and Atlantic County's stories offer living proof of that trend. Local news regularly highlights birthday celebrations where residents still drive, cook, and host grandchildren. These individuals never followed fad diets or fitness programs - they embraced a lifestyle shaped by shore rituals, seasonal traditions, and community ties.

Even routine actions hint at longevity physics. Gardening a few tomato plants, shopping at a summer market, walking to a neighbor's porch - all sound ordinary, but in Blue Zone communities, exactly this kind of incidental movement contributes to better cardiovascular health and reduced dementia risk. In the sweet summer air, with friends fishing at your side and dinner fresh from the garden, healthy living isn't a chore - it's family life.

In Atlantic County, longevity isn't a surprise; it's part of the rhythm of life. It's built into the seasons - through barefoot strolls on the waterline, berry harvests, porch conversations, and daily routines that never needed a name to be effective. A century of summers, one quiet habit at a time, lived in step with the tides and passed from generation to generation.

Moscow Nights Return by Beth H. Macy

After years in semi-retirement, Cold War spy Elda Ainsworth is sent by the American government to extract her friend Korinna Federov, a Russian translator for the Kremlin. KGB operative Anatoly Petrov's mission is to eliminate Korinna, thus ensuring the covert activities of both the American and Russian presidents are kept secret. The delicate balance of peace is on the line as Elda squares off against Anatoly in a high-stakes cat-and-mouse chase across Russia and Europe. Alone against the power and resources of the Kremlin, are Elda's wits and skills enough to save Korinna and win one for America in the new Cold War?

Moscow Nights Return is the first book in a gripping series of spy thrillers that bring alive flawed characters who operate in this clandestine world of international espionage. The fifth book in the Moscow Nights series will be released in the fall. Purchase at <https://amzn.to/4fnIRuN>.

Falling Angels: A Maxx King Thriller by John H. Thomas

In the explosive finale of the Maxx King trilogy, former Army Ranger Maxx King, a cybersecurity expert, faces a conspiracy that could end humanity. From Seattle's secret labs to Beijing's frenetic streets and Afghanistan's war-torn mountains, Maxx and his team of allies — fierce Gabby, steadfast Andres and loyal Glen — hunt a rogue ex-DARPA scientist, traitor CIA operatives, and an Iranian physicist wielding technology that could trigger chaos on a cataclysmic scale.

The clock is ticking. Betrayals sting like shrapnel. In a pulse-pounding showdown, he must outmaneuver a killer who never misses, averting global catastrophe and saving the woman he loves. Falling Angels is a merciless thriller packed with loyalty, betrayal and unbreakable spirit. This Maxx King saga finale grips readers with relentless suspense and gut-wrenching emotion. Jack Slater and Matthew Reilly fans will love this: one rule applies when facing a world-ending conspiracy — don't blink. Purchase at <https://amzn.to/4jUOKki>.

Homo Idioticus: Why We Are Stupid and What to Do About It by Cezary Pietrasik

We are not Homo sapiens or Homo economicus; we are Homo idioticus.

- IQs in developed countries have been declining since 1995
- 10% of Americans use their phones during sex
- 40% of Americans reject the theory of evolution
- Nearly 40% of the world's population has not completed high school
- 86% of American teens cannot differentiate between fact and opinion

Homo Idioticus explores the paradox of human intelligence and irrationality, delving into the roots of this idiocy, from biology to societal norms to systemic flaws, using vivid historical and modern examples to illustrate our follies. With humor, compelling anecdotes and a clear sense of urgency, Homo Idioticus challenges readers to confront uncomfortable truths about human behavior by providing a profound exploration of how humans can be their own worst enemies — and how we, both individually and collectively, can fight back. High Flight: A Pilot's Journey Through Life by Richard Hess

Richard Hess, born John Patrick Aliano, began life in a typical middle-class household. His parents divorced when he was just a toddler, and after his mom remarried, she gave him her new husband's surname, further distancing him from his paternal roots. Growing up on New York's mean streets with an abusive stepfather taught Richard grit at a very early age.

This grit followed him into the United States Air Force, which became his surrogate patriarch for the next 28 years. During his service, Richard learned to leave his scars behind. Now, after 50 years of marriage, raising three kids, fighting in nine war zones and traveling to countless countries, he's gained a certain perspective on life. Richard's years spent as a military pilot, airline captain and businessman have given him an education in life, love and faith — an education that begs to be shared.
